WILLIAM MARION JARDINE
President of the College

K. S. A. C. is indeed fortunate in having as its president a man whose sound judgment and idealism has made him a prominent figure in national affairs and an authority in matters concerning the vital industry of the national agriculture.

President Jardine has the distinction of being Chairman of the Kansas Commission on the Relation of Electricity to Agriculture, which is one of the first of its kind to be organized. He is also a member of the Executive Board of the National Food Research Council, organized under the Carnegie Foundation.

Under Doctor Jardine's administration the institution has expanded rapidly and is now one of the leading schools of its kind in the United States.

The Division of Agriculture

Typical Cows of the Four Leading Dairy Breeds

An important mission of the Division of Agriculture is to train young men to apply the principles and facts of science to the enterprises of agriculture and country life; to the various branches of stock raising, dairying, crop production, fruit and vegetable growing, landscape gardening, poultry keeping, marketing, and other agricultural activities; and to the improvement of rural communities and the solution of numerous agricultural problems.

The Division is admirably equipped to fulfill this mission. It has more than 50 well-trained, experienced teachers; 5 well equipped farms (1,300 acres) adjacent to the college campus; commodious buildings containing class rooms, laboratories, and reading rooms; a modern electrically-operated flour mill an up-to-date creamery and cheese and ice cream factories; and numerous representatives of 20 breeds of livestock. The Agricultural Experiment Station, with a staff of 80 scientifically trained and experienced men, helps to keep the instructional work abreast of the latest agricultural science.

The agricultural graduates of K. S. A. C. are engaged in more than 100 interesting and profitable agricultural occupations, on the farm and in many scientific fields, in nearly every state in the Union and in several foreign countries.

The work of the agricultural curriculum is well balanced, practical, interesting, and effective. It includes training in chemistry, botany, geology, bacteriology, zoology, and other basis sciences, and in history, literature, journalism, business law, and economics, as well as in the agricultural applications of the sciences.

Division of Veterinary Medicine

Veterinary Hospital

Twelve universities and colleges in the United States offer courses in Veterinary Medicine leading to the degree, Doctor of Veterinary Medicine. From the standpoint of enrollment, the Kansas school ranks fourth, though it is not situated in a densely populated region. There are enrolled for the 1923-24 college year students from Arkansas, California, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Wisconsin, Philippine Islands, and China.

The Division of Veterinary Medicine is housed in a three story stone building, and in addition, at the beginning of the 1923-24 college year, occupied a new $100,000 veterinary hospital. Fifteen acceptable units of high school work or its equivalent are required for admission to the freshman class. The curriculum requires four years for its completion.

Lobby to Veterinary Hospital

Division of Veterinary Medicine

Clinic Room

The old school of non-graduate practitioners is everywhere disappearing, and the places taken by the modern graduate veterinarians. So rapidly is this process taking place that at the present time only one graduate is available for every four veterinarians retiring.

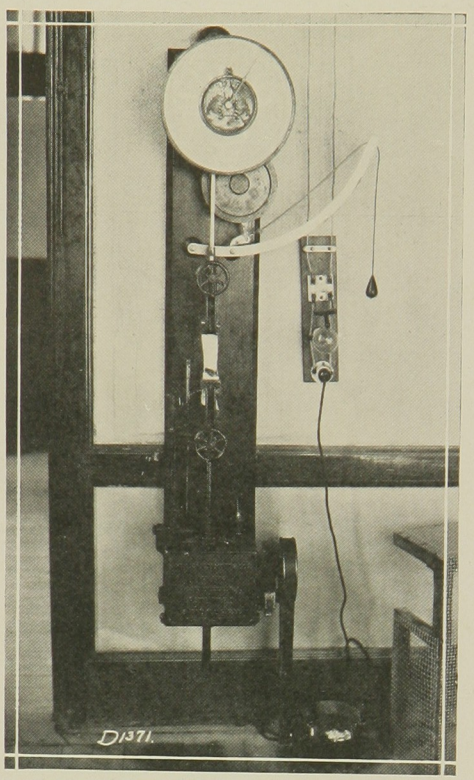

Furthermore, there are enrolled only a few more than 500 students in all the veterinary colleges in the United States so that there can be no more than 125 graduates a year for each of the next four years. Also, statistics indicate that in 1910 there was one veterinarian for every 17,000 head of livestock, while in 1920 there was one veterinarian for every 24,000 head of livestock.

Young men genuinely interested in livestock and in a professional career will find in Veterinary Medicine unusual opportunities.

Veterinary Apparatus

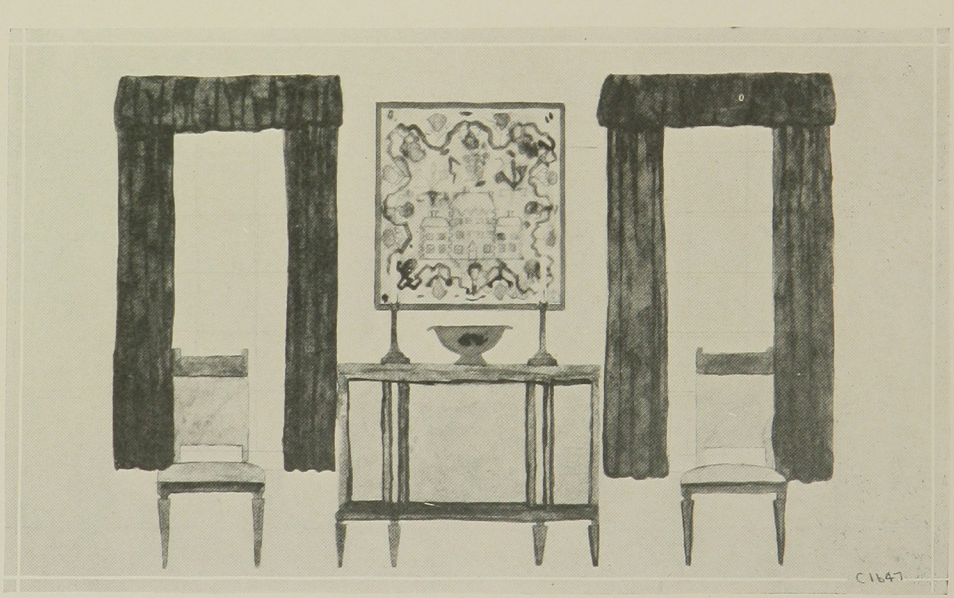

Division of Home Economics

Machine for testing tensile strength of fabrics

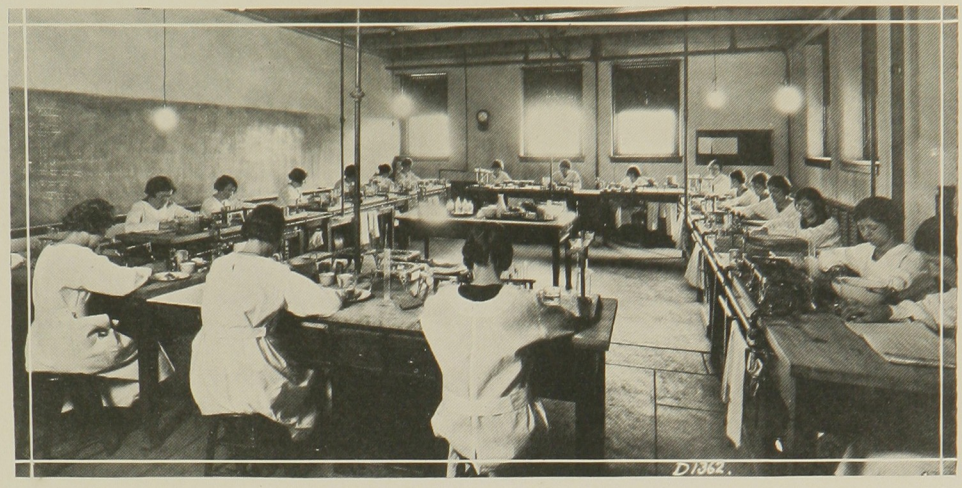

The Applied Art Department emphasizes the fact that "The study of design furnishes a means of exercising and thus developing good taste in connection with the things which make up environment of everyday life and of awakening appreciation in nature and in art." In the design and interior decoration courses a knowledge of color, line and form is applied to those problems incident to the well furnished home.

The work of the department of Clothing and Textiles is planned to develop in the minds of students clear ideas of the relative importance of suitable clothing in the life of the individual and of the family. Quality and beauty of fabric is studied along with purity of composition. The textile laboratory is well equipped with machines for testing the tensile strength of fabrics, yarns, and fibres and with a conditioning oven to prepare the fabrics for the various tests.

Problem in Interior Decoration

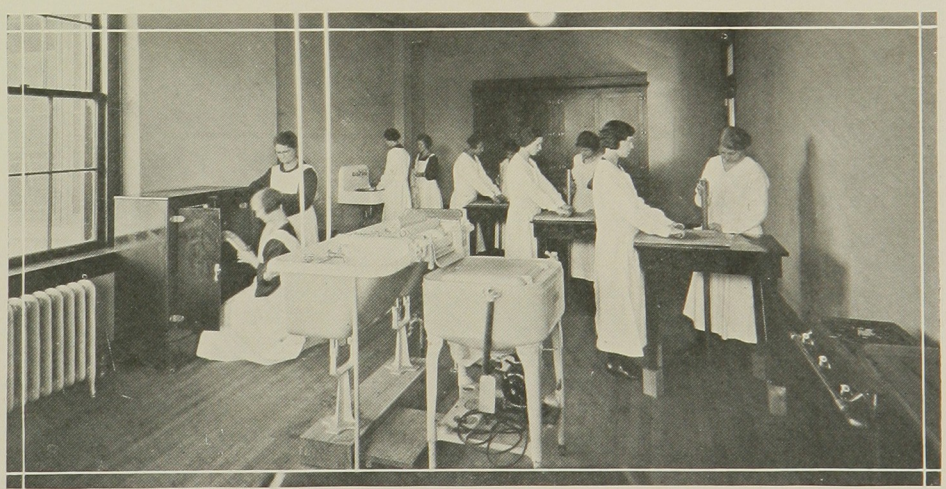

Division of Home Economics

Foods II Laboratory

The department of Food Economics and Nutrition is designed to supply a high type of training adapted to the needs of the foods worker of today. A study of food requires the application of a knowledge of several kinds of science, and the student who completes her work is equipped to perform her home duties to the best advantage or to be economically independent if she so desires. In the foods II laboratory students work with food problems of an experimental nature.

The Household Economics department emphasizes the successful administration of the home. Whether it be for the family or for the larger institutional group, it depends upon the wise expenditure of time, money, and effort, the maintenance of healthful and comfortable home conditions, and an appreciation of the importance of the family and the home and their relation to the rest of society. In the household management laboratory students work out methods of reducing fatigue in the kitchen, test the efficiency of labor-saving devices, and the proper placing of equipment.

Household Management Laboratory

Division of General Science

The Division of General Science includes most of the oldest original departments of the college in which the fundamental and general subjects are taught upon which the special technical and vocational instruction is built. In it is also given instruction bearing directly upon a number of vocations such as teaching, journalism and various lines of scientific service or investigation. Activities in charge of departments of this division are extensively illustrated in this volume under athletic, military, musical, oratorical, dramatic and forensic organizations.

The work of some of the departments can scarcely be presented in pictures. That of the science department is often of such character as to require considerable explanation for its understanding. The opportunity for work and study in the various sciences is exceptionally good. Not only are hundreds of students constantly under instruction, but original research in many lines is in progress continuously.

May Fete

Division of General Science

In the department of entomology not only is important work going on in the repressing of noxious insects, but an especially interesting phase of work has been developed in recent years, that of apiculture. The possibilities of the state in this industry have scarcely been touched, and the facilities for instruction in the principles and practice of beekeeping are excellent.

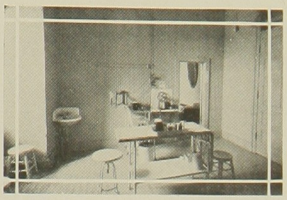

In connection with all of the sciences extensive laboratories are maintained, their capacity being sufficient to accommodate several hundred students simultaneously. The equipment and maintenance of such scientific laboratories is accomplished by an educational institution only at an expense which is prohibitive to small colleges.

This division is thus the center of education in the college, and the nucleus about which the technical, distinctively vocational departments cluster. Moreover it has under its oversight the administration of several curricula the characteristic work of which is given by departments of the division.

Field Day

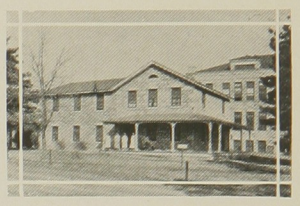

The Department of Student Health

Treatment Room Dispensary

The slogan of this department is HEALTH FIRST. For that reason our chief business is to keep students well. We aim to do this by inoculations, vaccinations, isolation, and by enforcing quarantine regulations and disseminating information on personal hygiene and public sanitation. We also make physical examinations of all students entering school and offer suggestions for the correction of defects.

In addition we take care of the sick students. This part of the work has grown rapidly during the past few years. At first we had only a nurse with a one room office and no means of caring for the sick. Now we have a staff of three physicians, one a woman, and four regular nurses, with a five-room office and dispensary in Anderson Hall, and a sixteen-room well equipped hospital with a contagious annex on the campus.

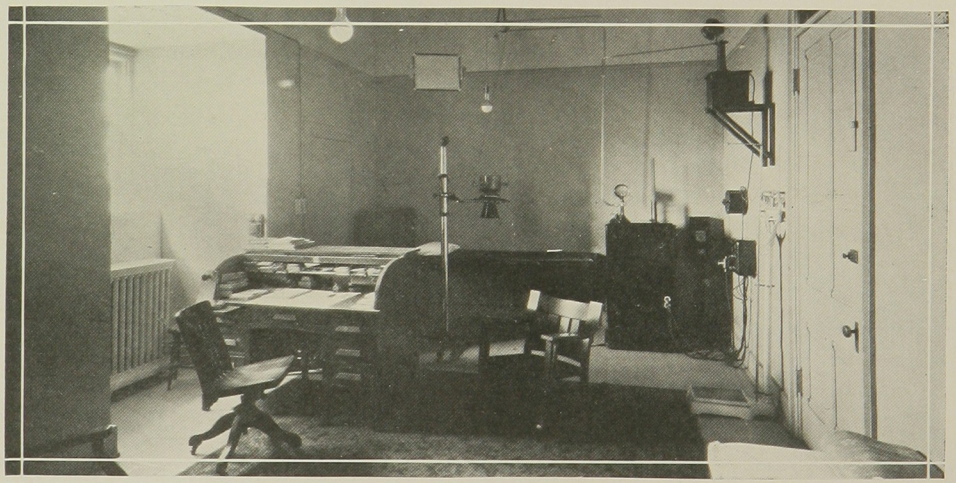

Hospital Building

The following is a report of last year's work at the dispensary.

First Semester	8,818
Second Semester	9,069
Summer School	1,378
Total	19,265

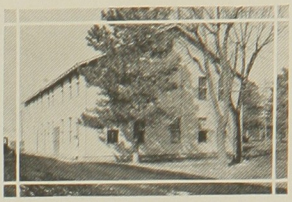

This number means that we have cared for an average of more than 94 cases each school day, not including the cases at the hospital. Since the opening of the hospital last year for general cases we have handled more than 409 patients. Many of these cases have been of a serious nature, such as pneumonia, scarlet fever, and appendicitis.

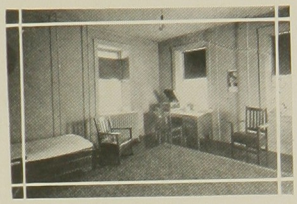

X-Ray Room Dispensary

The Department of Student Health

Within the last year a modern X-Ray machine has been added to the office equipment. Our policy is to keep both the office and the hospital supplied with the latest and best instruments for our work.

Contagion Annex

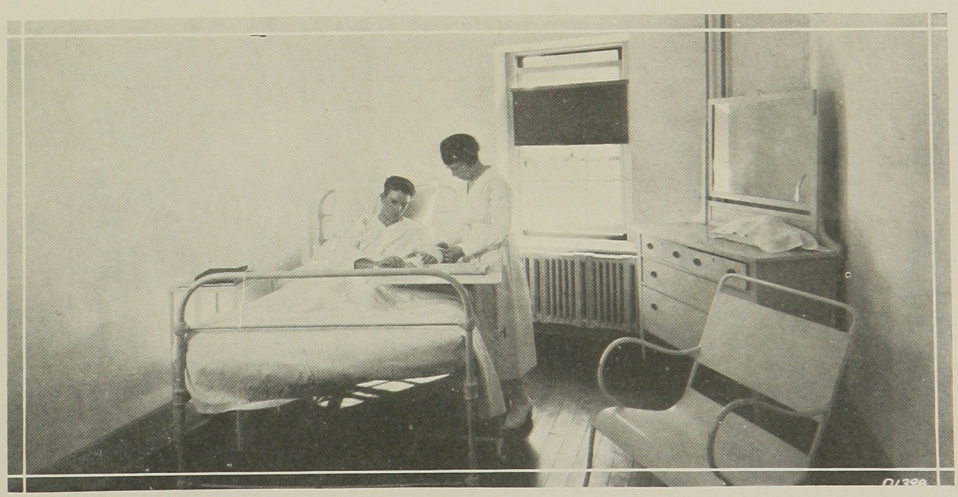

Reception Room of Hospital

Students are urged to keep in touch with this department concerning their general physical welfare and to consult with us regarding any question of personal hygiene which may be causing them trouble.

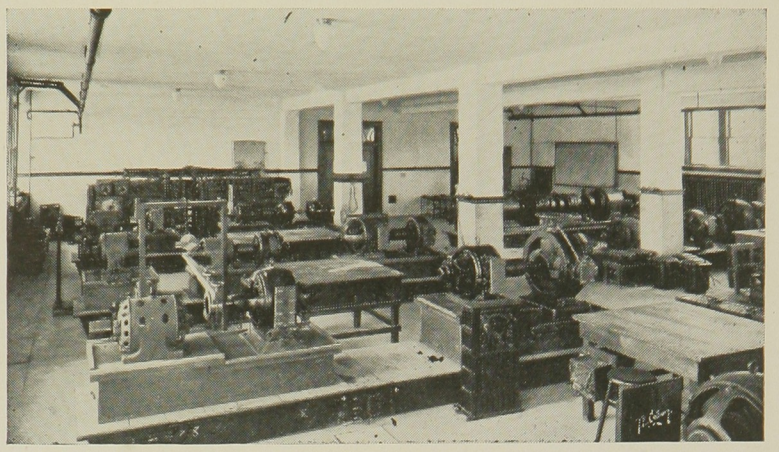

The staff consists of

Division of Engineering

Dynamo Laboratory

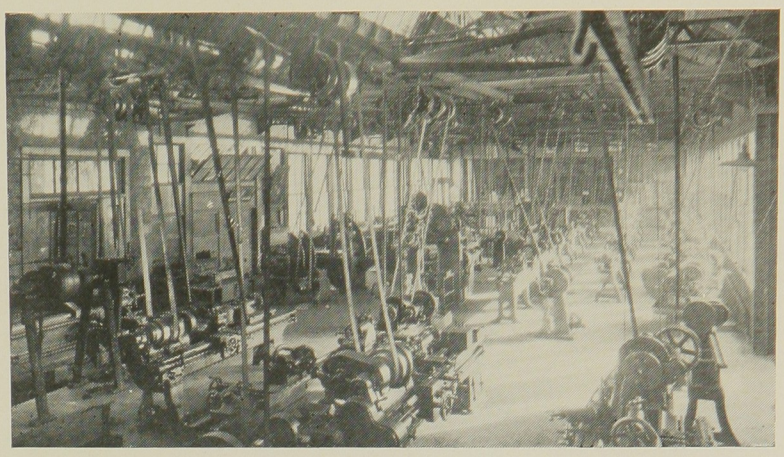

The Engineering Division of the Kansas State Agricultural College ranks as one of the important technical institutions in the United States. Four-year curricula are offered leading to a degree in agricultural engineering, architecture, chemical engineering, civil engineering, electrical engineering, flour mill engineering, landscape architecture, and mechanical engineering.

In addition to the four-year curricula, special instruction in a number of vocations is offered for those who desire special training in these vocations and who find it impossible to take advantage of the longer courses.

Tractor Laboratory

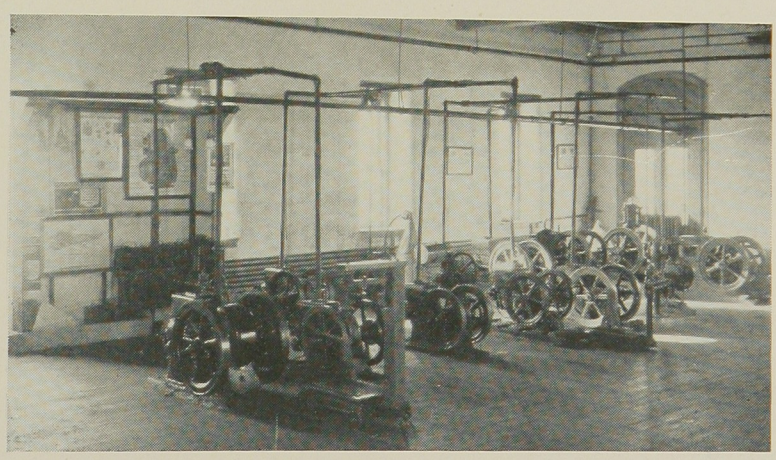

Division of Engineering

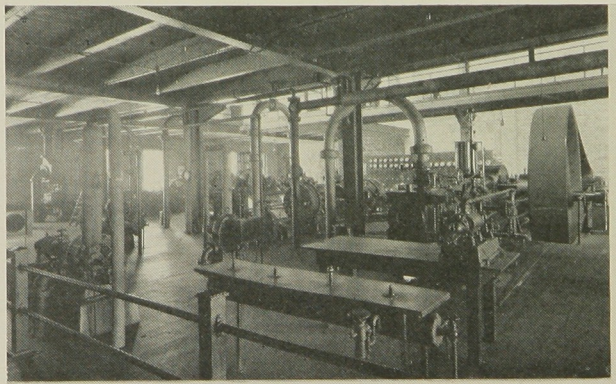

Machine Shop

One and two-year trade courses in automobile mechanics, carpentry, blacksmithing, foundry practice, machine shop practice and tractor operation have recently been added. Short special courses of eight and twelve weeks' duration are given for automobile mechanics, tractor operators, carpenters, machinists, blacksmiths, electricians and foundrymen.

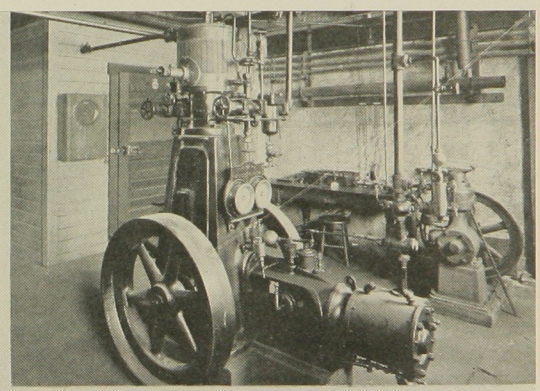

The Engineering Experiment Station of the college, organized for the purpose of conducting tests, surveys and research of engineering and manufacturing value to the various industries of the state, has proven itself of material benefit to the citizens of Kansas. In addition to the various research problems solved by the Experiment Station, it has been made the official testing laboratory for the Kansas Highway Commission, and all materials used or contemplated for use in hard surface roads built in Kansas under the supervision of this commission are tested by the Station. Similarly the state has looked to the Engineering Experiment Station to test all lubricating oils purchased for use in the various state institutions.

History of Class of 1924

By J. F. H.

"Guess I won't see you for some time after this week, Johnny. South America's a long way off, and no telling when we'll get back to talk over old times with you and Doris and Pat and Bernice and Skete . . . . Class of '24 is a pretty good class, I'd say."

"Yeah, some class. It seems only yesterday I came up here from Cedar Vale to enroll. Stood in the rain with Jim and Guy for three hours. Even got some kick out of that, when I was a freshman."

"I'm willing to bet my hand lettered sheepskin we'd give fifty dollars this time next spring to be here, singing 'Alma Mater' with the rest of the gang. . . . . Funny how a fellow gets attached to his school, and thinks it's the only one in existence that amounts to anything."

"And his classmates are always the most prominent, too. Ever notice that? Look how we put over Campus day—that is, Alice did. She wouldn't have her name in the paper, but she was responsible for the affair. Worked hard, too—you know Alice."

"You'll have to hand it to her. And remember how Tex got away with the Ag fair, and Doc with the prom."

"And how about that cribbing investigation of Posey's?"

"Oh, we're a smart class, all right. But somehow, I don't care so much about those things now. Being president down at the house, secretary of your 'lit' society, and treasurer of something else, are good enough while you're in college—give you something to work for, and all that. But the things I'll remember longest are different—you know—the first prom, where I met—"

"I know. The sociology prof who rescued me from the Slough of Despond last fall, and the time Prexy straightened out a little matter that didn't seem so little right then. Say, Prexy's a—"

"Aw, don't get sentimental. . . . See how pretty old Anderson looks tonight, that soft purplish color against the sunset, and the deep shadows on the east. . . . Guess we won't need to keep any postcard views of K. S. A. C. in the front parlor, Johnny, as long as we have pictures like this in our memory."

" 'Till the sun grows cold, and the stars are old'—Gee, when I reach the poetry stage it's time to leave."

1925 Class History

By CORINNE SMITH

In the fall of 1921, the good ship, Perseverance, set out upon the Sea of Knowledge, manned by a valiant crew and safely piloted by Captain Charles. For awhile the sea was rough, there were many difficulties and some returned to shore, while others were washed overboard by the waves, never to be found. But not all was hardship for mixers were given and much gaiety was to be found upon deck.

In the second year of their voyage many were missing after the storm of finals, but others not disheartened by these things continued their voyage under the leadership of Captain Staley. The travelers had become more accustomed to sea life and only a few were lost by the piratic raids of spring weather, marvelous moons and too much deck laboratory.

Their third year was sobered by the thought of only one more year ahead of them, yet with it all they did not lag behind. For were not two on board selected as most popular on all the voyage? Many of the crew distinguished themselves in various sports and those who received their letters were Bunker, Staley and Perham.

We will leave them now on the third year of their cruise and see what 1925 will have in store for them.

1926 Class History

A person considering writing a class history of a sophomore class will usually find himself drawing upon one of two sources for his general outline.

In the first place, he may turn his eyes backward and survey the accomplishments of the last two years. Having surveyed them to his own satisfaction he may hold them up to the public gaze by commemorating them upon paper. This is the procedure which has been followed by the majority of class historians in the past and on this basis the class of 1926 claims its share of the honors. We might go into detail concerning our four representatives on the varsity football and three on the varisity basketball roster of letter men. When track and baseball letters are awarded later this spring the ability of the members of the class of 1926 in these lines also will be attested. We might go further and enumerate our representatives in the other college and departmental activities such as debate, dramatics, music and the journalistic field. However, we feel that at this stage of our career as a class organization we should not stress our past achievements too much as has often happened in the case of classes before us. We feel that should we rest on our laurels now there might be a corresponding let-down in the coming two years.

This brings up the second source of material, that of looking into the future and portraying our possibilities, from the half-way point where we now stand, until graduation day in 1926. We would not prophesy great records for individuals or groups of individuals who are within our scope. Rather we would set as a goal, every person working in his own field to the best of his ability, to the end that we may show a great many beneficial results, which, collectively taken, will keep the standards of our college ever rising in the eyes of the people.

FRESHMEN
W. J. Hartgrove

History of the Class of 1927

By MILDRED RUSSELL

In the fall of '23, in the month of September, a vast army of green creatures, large and small, began to swarm into Manhattan. When this throng was assembled, it was discovered to be the Freshman Class.

At their first meeting they elected their officers and, 'tis well they did then for they have not elected since. The class meetings have always been well attended and the business speedily transacted. Soon after Christmas, the Freshmen decided to have a dance. They advertised well that they had a good orchestra from Kansas City engaged but, lo when the eventful night came, the orchestra proved to be one composed of local talent. The dance proved to be a success both in pep and finances.

The Freshmen made a generous contribution towards the stadium, which was a big help to the College and placed them in good standing. On the 25th of April the Class, together with the Sophomores gave the Fresh-Soph Hop, which proved a great success. They have never been lacking when it comes to pep and ability to work. The Freshman boys faithfully won the purple cup—when they had to.

This class promises to be the best that has ever entered K. S. A. C.

ATHLETICS

MICHAEL FRANCIS AHEARN
Director of Athletics
"Patron Saint of Aggie Athletics"

Four years ago when "Mike" Ahearn was given the steering wheel of Aggie athletics the opinion was expressed by many that the Wildcats were headed for the top in the Missouri Valley. Since then sport lovers have watched Aggie teams fight their way to victories in valley contests.

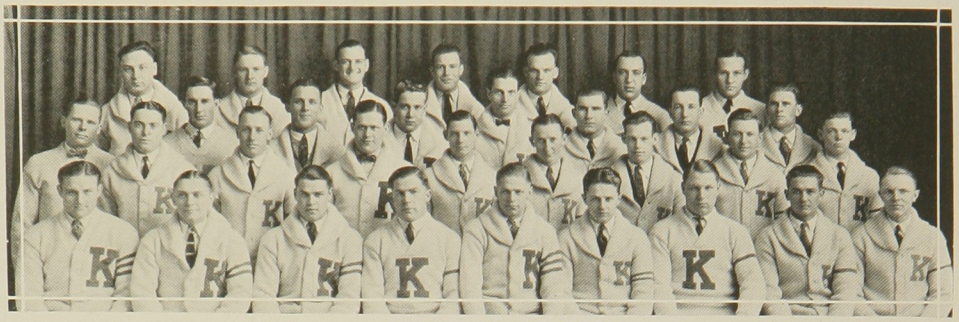

Bachman, a "second to none" football coach has won fame for himself and the Aggies of Kansas by developing a winning team on the gridiron. More than being the best football mentor in the Missouri Valley, Bachman is a finished expert in teaching track and field sports.

Corsaut has come to the Aggies more recently and in one brief season, despite injuries and a serious lack of veteran players, brought the Wildcat basketball team from the undisputed cellar championship to an even 500 per cent position in the Missouri Valley team standing.

With a baseball record not quite as good as that of the football, basketball and track squads, during the last three years, the Aggie baseball men have no discredit coming to them. They fought all the way and are still going with prospects for a brighter season ahead under the direction of Coach Corsaut.

Under Manager Knoth who introduced intramural athletics here in 1920 this form of athletics has increased in popularity. Knoth has won greatest honor in developing strong swimming, boxing, and wrestling teams.

KNOTH

After a season marked by tie games, upset dope, and muddy fields the Aggies stood fifth in the Missouri Valley percentage column, having won two games, tied two and lost two.

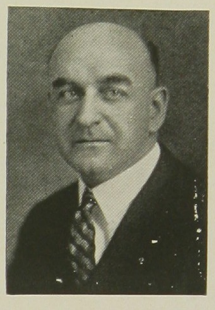

There is no argument as to the superiority of the Cornhuskers over other Valley teams. In the Thanksgiving game the Huskers proved their claim to the Valley Championship by defeating the Aggies, who had previously outplayed Kansas University, also undefeated, in a tie game.

Due to the upset of Valley dope the rating of the other teams was hard to decide and after all perhaps the standing of the teams at the end of the season best tells the story.

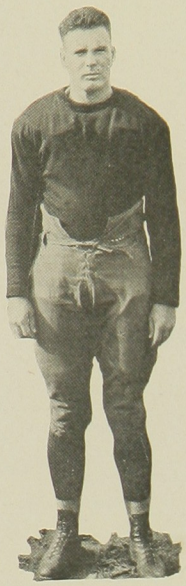

ROOT

The wonderful passing system developed last year was used to advantage and again was one of the outstanding features of the conference season's play. The veteran passing combination of the previous year, Stark, Swartz, and Axline in the backfield and Munn and Webber at the ends of the line, puzzled their opponents and made the Aggie aerial attack spectacular and thrilling to a high degree. The famous Notre Dame shift was slightly modified to a lock-step shift which worked with beautiful precision and prevented the backfield from being in motion. A variety of end runs and off-tackle plays formed the ground attack and coupled with the aerial offense in many cases proved the undoing of Valley opponents.

HOLTZ

A feeling of good fellowship and unselfish cooperation on the part of each individual was in a large measure responsible for the success of the 1923 machine.

CAPTAIN NICHOLS

An able aggressive leader, a student of the game

Washburn 0--Aggies 25

Opening the season with four regulars, Captain Nichols, Swartz, Stark and Clements out of the game the Aggies romped through, over and around their opponents from the Capitol City. Playing on a wet field in a drizzling rain and a cold wind detracted from the excitement of the first game and served to prepare the players and spectators for subsequent games played under the same conditions.

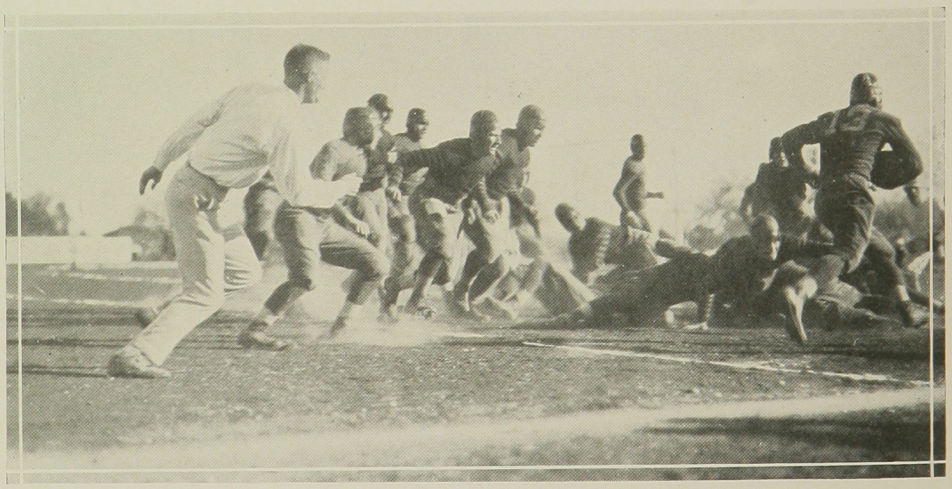

CAPTAIN-ELECT MUNN

A deadly tackle and a strong offensive player

Butcher was the bulwark of the Aggie offense and scored all of the points. Other new players, Mildrexter and O. H. Wilson at halfback positions showed promise of developing into good material and exhibited some nice line plunging and broken field running.

The Ichabods under a new coaching system advanced the ball well at times but never did they endanger the Aggie goal.

Creighton 0--Aggies 6

Handing defeat to the Creighton team, rated as one of the best in the Middle West, the Aggies proved to their followers that they had the punch and fight.

It was the first game of the season for Swartz, Stark and Clements who had been kept out with injuries and the insertion of the latter two into the line-up in the second period started a victorious march to the Creighton goal. The passing system of both teams was hampered by a muddy and slippery field. Both teams completed a reasonable number of their passes, notwithstanding the condition of the field.

CLEMENTS

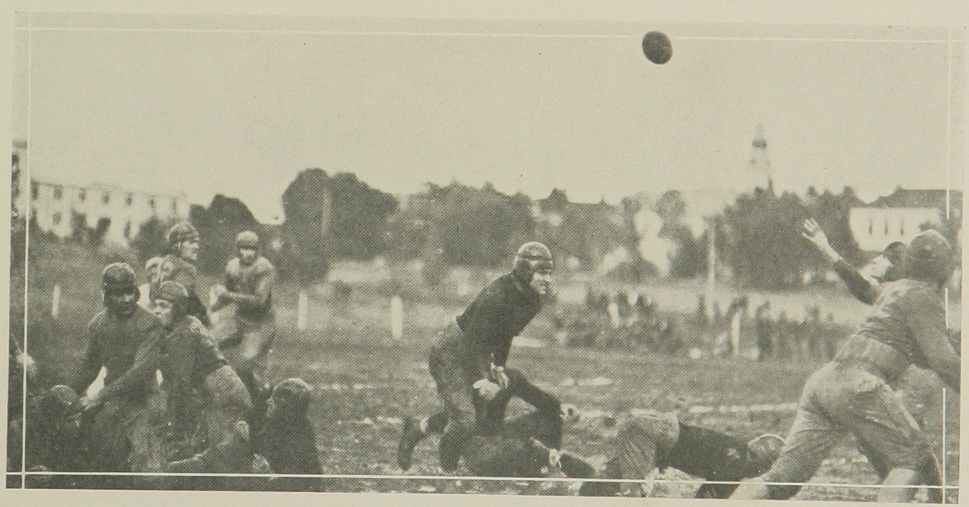

A good line plunger and wonderful on interference

AXLINE

The speed merchant who knew the game from A to Z

In the last period Creighton opened up with a passing offensive which carried them far into Aggie territory where the Wildcats tightened and held them for downs.

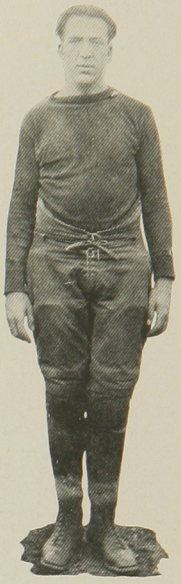

COACH BACHMAN
Whose popularity increases from year to year

Ames 7--Aggies 7

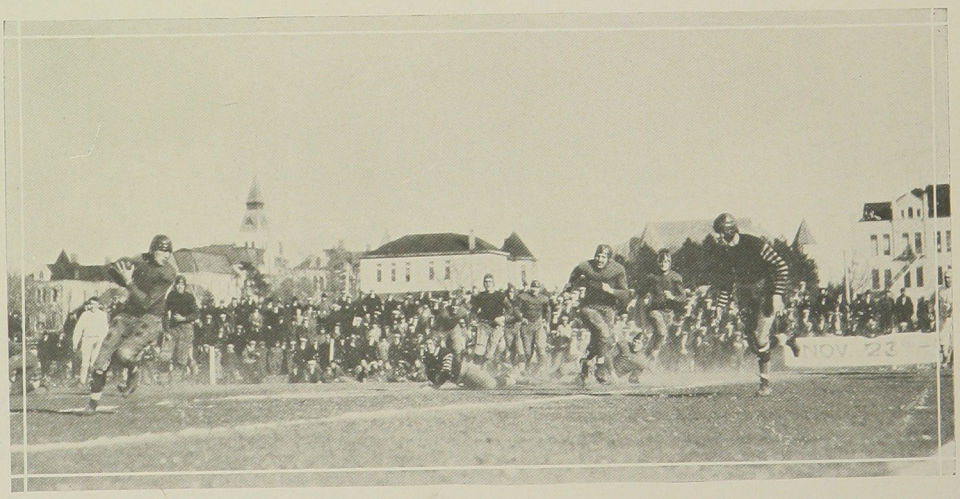

The Wildcats opened their Valley schedule with the Cyclones on the Iowans' gridiron. The game came very near being detrimental to the Aggies for not until the last quarter with 17 seconds to play did Bachman's men score their only touchdown. Clements produced the extra point which tied the score.

Ames scored first, late in the second quarter by means of spectacular end runs on the part of J. Behm, assisted by line plunging by N. Behm and J. Anderson. Immediately after the touchdown the Wildcats started a furious offensive and when the whistle blew to end the half had the ball on the Ames' two-yard line.

Three times within the last half the Aggies were within the Ames ten yard line but not until the last minute of the game did they cross the Iowa goal.

KEEFER
A sophomore who made good at right tackle

Kansas U. 0--Aggies 0

Outplaying the Jayhawk in every department of the game and gaining a net offensive of 320 yards to his opponent's 75 yards the Wildcat was unable to secure anything better than a tie out of the Kansas-Aggie fray.

The work of the Aggies' backfield and line was superb. Time after time Stark and Axline reeled off long gains around the Kansas ends and through the much touted K. U. forward wall which gave way before the perfectly timed smashes of the Aggie linemen.

HUTTON

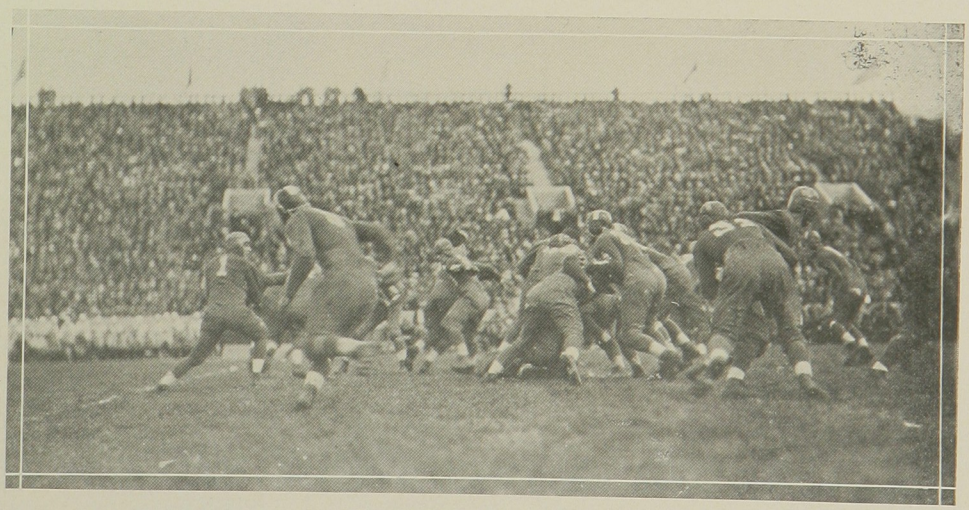

The ideal type. Speed, fight, aggressiveness

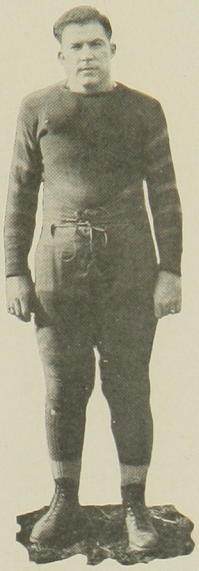

HARTER

168 pounds of fight. Always talking it up

The Wildcats served notice of the dangerous air game almost at the start when a 23-yard pass, Stark to Swartz, put the ball on the Kansas 4-yard line. However, a 5-yard penalty for offside and an incomplete pass over the goal line gave K. U. the ball. The Aggies again threatened in the second quarter and in the last period had the ball on the Kansas one-yard line, where the Jayhawk recovered on a fumble.

BUTCHER
"Butch" hits like a ton of bricks

Missouri U. 4--Aggies 2

Playing on a sticky field of Kansas gumbo Bachman's men first tasted defeat at the hands of Mizzou Tiger in a slow, uninteresting game in which the only counters were three safeties.

It was the Homecoming game for the Aggies and 6,000 fans watched two "sockless" teams battle for a victory which meant much to the winner. Both teams were handicapped on account of the four inches of mud which covered the entire field.

STEINER
Hahn's understudy who made good in 1923

Neither team had a decided advantage on the field, but two Aggie fumbles behind the goal which were recovered but not in time to avoid being downed before crossing the line, netted the Missouri team two safeties.

The Aggie score came late in the last quarter when a Missouri halfback donated two points to avoid losing the ball and the securing of a possible Aggie touchdown.

Grinnell 7--Aggies 34

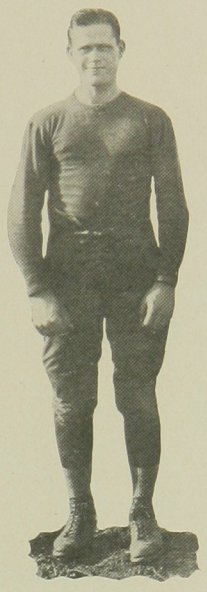

The Aggies won their first Valley victory when they hit a belated stride and romped over the Pioneers to the tune of five touchdowns.

The varied attack displayed by the Wildcats was brilliant. The triple threat work of Swartz and Stark kept the Grinnell defense puzzled at all times while the work of the Aggie backfield was spectacular throughout.

SCHINDLER

A power on offense, a stone wall on defense

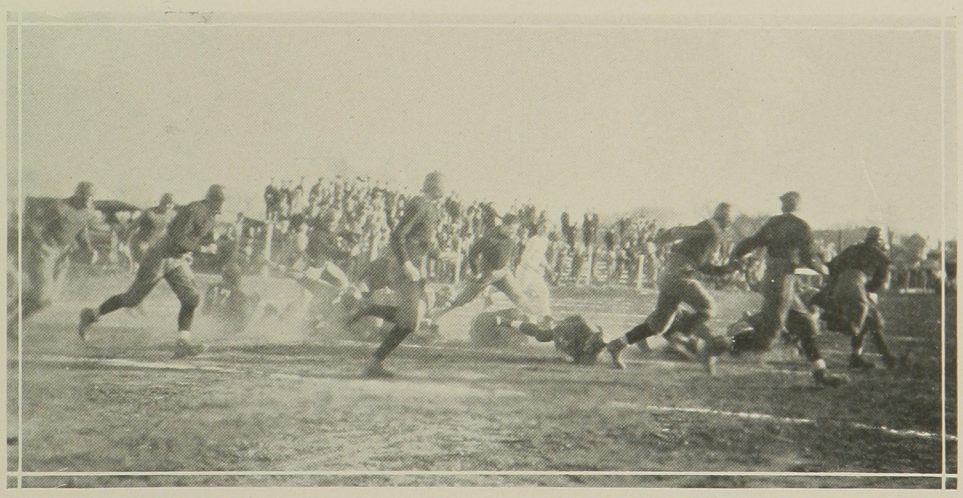

STARK

"The best in the west" All-valley choice

Axline stood out as the leading ground gainer for the Aggies hitting the Grinnell line for good gain at almost every attempt. He was ably assisted by Stark who plunged the line well, ran the ends and was on the receiving end of a number of good passes.

Grinnell scored their only touchdown in the third quarter as the result of a long forward pass, Sweet to Taylor, who also kicked goal.

PERHAM

A strong man who was a utility worker

Freshmen 0--Varsity 0

On November 17 while Coach Bachman and his first string men were in Lincoln, Nebraska, enjoying a rest and scouting the Nebraska-Syracuse game, the freshmen and varsity fought a scoreless game on Ahearn Field. It was the first home game of the season on a dry field.

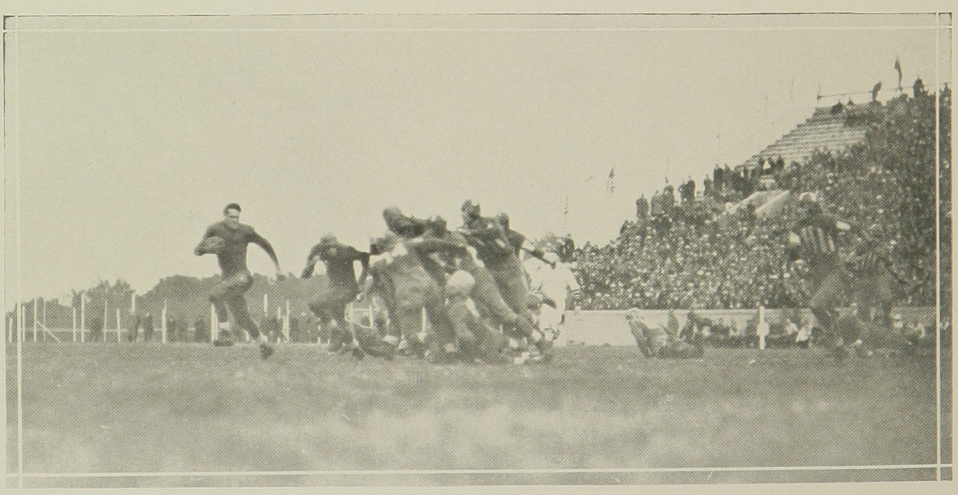

The closest thing to a thrill occurred when the freshmen held the varsity a foot from the goal line. The frosh made a good showing and the results of the game indicated that Bachman would find some good material among the freshmen to fill the shoes of the varsity men who graduate this year.

The kicking of Cochrane was a feature of the game. Hoffman played an outstanding game for the freshmen, his return of punts and wide end runs gaining many yards. Feathers, freshman fullback, also showed up well. He is a line plunger and good on defense.

BALLARD

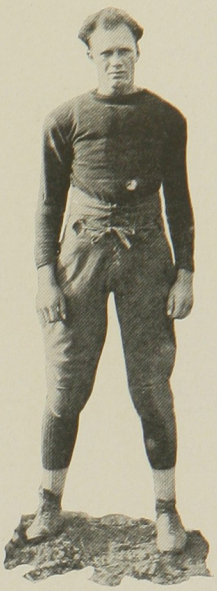

A good man for both tackle positions

Oklahoma 20--Aggies 21

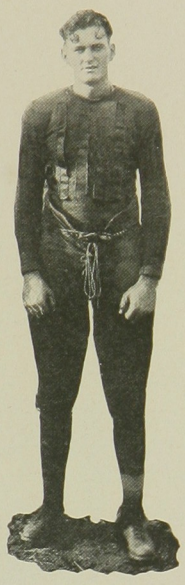

In a forward passing classic, the nerves of more than 8,000 spectators taut during the entire game, the Aggies barely nosed out Coach Bennie Owen's warriors from Norman.

It was the first ideal football day on the home field. The forward passes of both teams predominated. It was in this game that Bachman's men earned the title of being the best forward passing team in the Valley, when they completed 18 flips out of 27 attempts.

WILSON

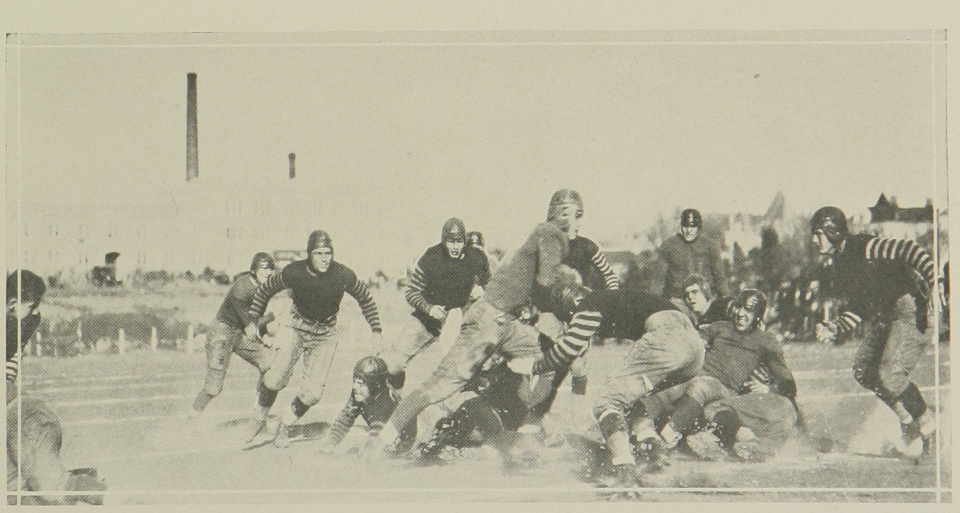

Axline's understudy who will be heard from in 1924

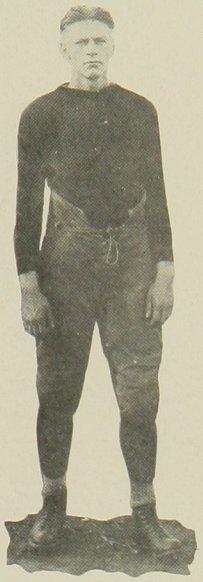

WEBBER

An outstanding and spectacular end

Just when the Aggie fans were beginning to feel comfortable with a 14-point lead, Bristow, Oklahoma fullback, intercepted a pass and ran 90 yards for a touchdown. Strengthened by this unexpected turn of events the Sooners by a series of passes and end runs scored another touchdown. The failure of Bowles to kick goal at the crucial moment cost them the game.

SWARTZ

For three years he skillfully directed the Aggie machine

Nebraska 34--Aggies 12

Playing a losing game but fighting every minute until the final whistle had blown, the Aggie Wildcats went down in glorious defeat before the furious, smashing attack of the ever driving Nebraska Cornhuskers.

It was a question of who had the ball, both teams being able to score when in possession of the ball. The Aggies were supreme in the aerial route while the Huskers had full sway in the ground attack.

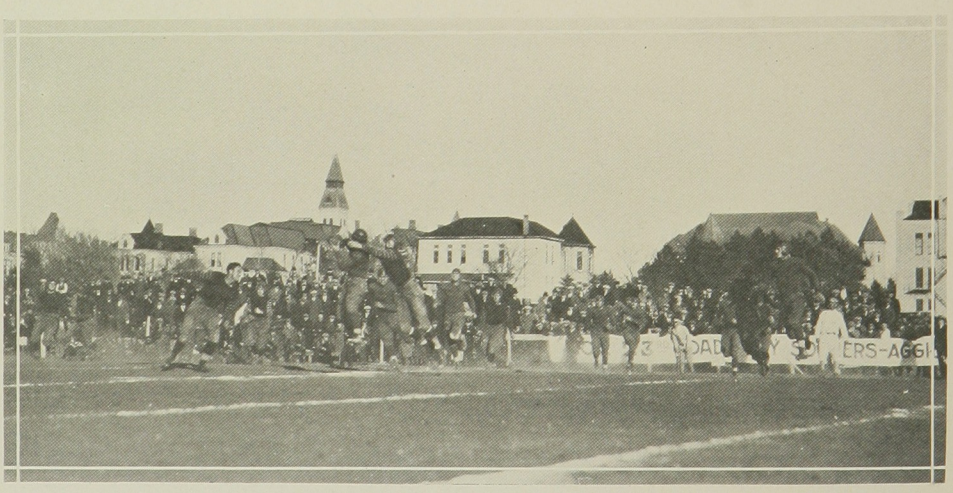

MILDREXTER

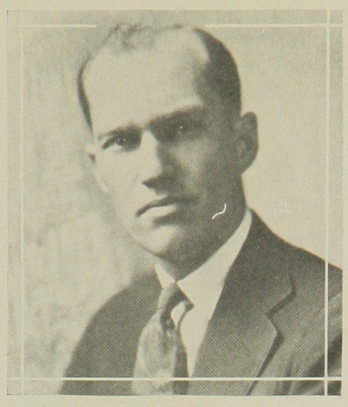

"John" demonstrated his ability to Aggie rooters

Twice the Wildcats went down the field with dazzling brilliancy. Snappy passes, fast end runs, and smashing line bucks enabled them to penetrate the Nebraska line for two touchdowns.

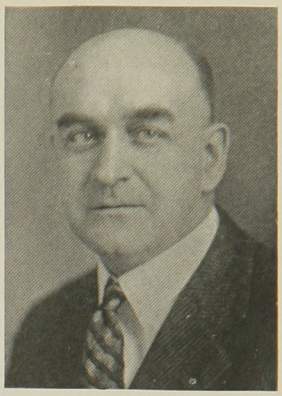

Despite the fact that it was a Nebraska victory too much credit cannot be given the valiant Aggie line which withstood the powerful drives of the hard-hitting Nebraskans.

Freshman Football

ASST. COACH CORSAUT

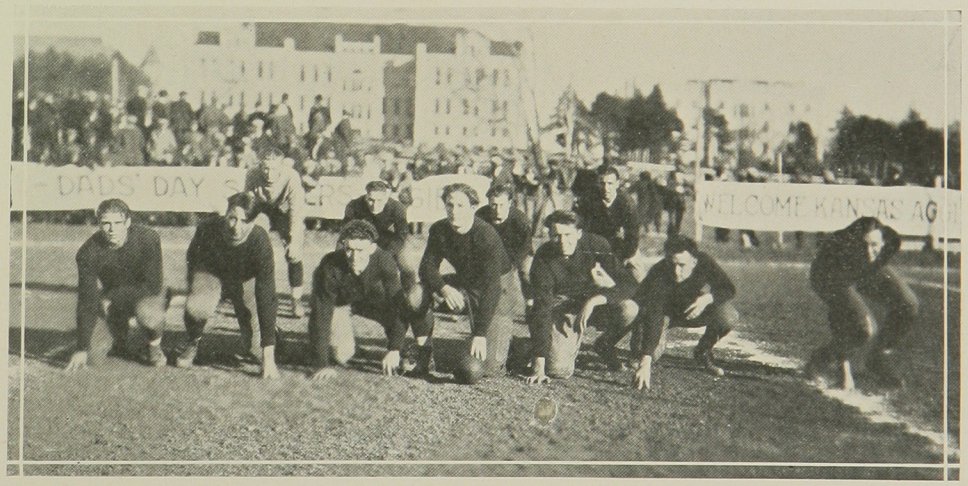

ASST. COACH HOLTZ

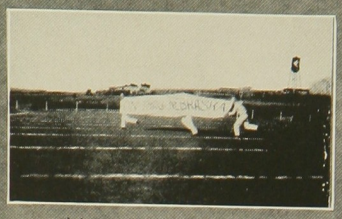

Coach Bachman's problem next fall will be to develop men who can take the place of the eight veterans who played their last football game for the Aggies at Nebraska Thanksgiving day. With a wealth of material from the freshman squad his worries over that particular puzzle should approach the zero point.

With an entirely new backfield it may result that Bachman's aerial offense will suffer somewhat for it is almost too much to expect that a backfield that will take the place of the Stark, Clements, Axline, Swartz combination can be molded in one year. However, the material in the freshman squad indicates that the 1924 backfield will be heavier and faster than that of the 1923 team and that a ground attack may be the main offensive.

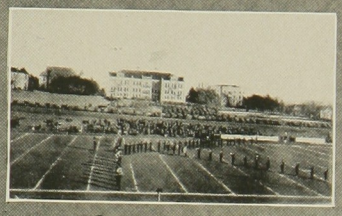

The line will also be heavier and although it will lack the experience of the line that worked in the 1923 team, there is every reason to expect that the 1924 squad will be one of the best in Aggie history.

CAPTAIN WEBBER
A guard that will be missed in 1925

Aggie basketball rose from its two-year slump into a semblance of former days during the 1924 season under the guidance of a new coach, C. W. Corsaut, who in 1923 piloted the Kansas City, Kansas, high school basketball team to a National Championship.

Letter men there were a-plenty at the start of the season, but Corsaut took a liking to the newer material, with the result that only Captain Howard

CAPT.-ELECT DOOLEN

Webber, Dodge City, and Art Doolen, Manhattan, guards, retained the positions they held in 1923.

KOCH
A guard who got many field goals.

At the start of the season the team took a pair of beatings from Oklahoma and Nebraska, who finished second and third in the conference, but obtained sweet revenge on the Cornhusker before a home crowd, 29 to 26, the first home victory in a couple of seasons.

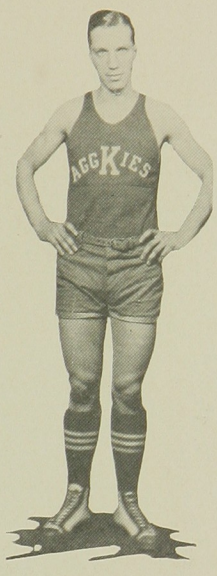

1924 Basketball

The Wildcats gradually improved as the season went on. Grinnell, the Champion Jayhawks, and Oklahoma took them to a double cleaning. The squad split with Washington and Nebraska, and defeated Drake, Ames, and Missouri twice, earning a percentage of .500 and a tie for fourth place in Valley standings.

Only six letters were awarded, the honors going to Captain Howard Webber, Dodge City; Gil Wann, Hays, forward; Kirby Bunker, Kansas City, forward; Eric Tebow, Scandia, center; Art Doolen, Manhattan, guard, and Fritz Koch, Manhattan, guard. The last four will be back in 1925 with a year of experience together behind them.

The short pass, five-man defense style of play used by Corsaut proved popular with Aggie fans, and home crowds were always the largest. Attendance seats were at a premium in the last two home games against Ames and Drake, when the Aggies finished up their season, the Bulldog game being the fourth consecutive victory in as many games.

CAPTAIN CHARLES GLENN KUYKENDALL

1923 Track

CAPTAIN-ELECT ERWIN

The success of Bachman as a track coach at K. S. A. C. is superseded only by his success as a football coach. It was Bachman who made Riley into a hurdler that led the valley in 1923. Bachman it was who found and developed Erwin to the point where he led the Missouri Valley century flash men. Himself a Notre Dame star in the weights, Bachman "made" Gartner who has already broken the K. S. A. C. discus record. His ability as a track coach is evidenced by the success of his relay teams as well as the universally good work done by the entire track squad.

Track "K" Men

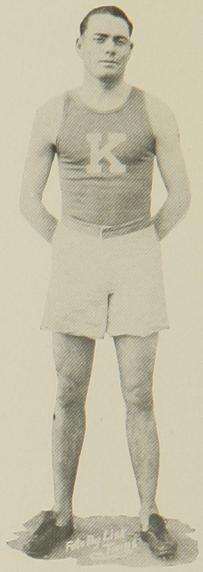

CAPTAIN KUYKENDALL
Missouri Valley two-mile champion

1923 Track

Aggie athletes of the cinder path placed second in the outdoor Missouri Valley meet at Ames, won a dual meet from the "Mizzou" Tiger at Columbia, and lost a dual meet to the Kansas Jayhawker at Lawrence. No duel meets could be held at Manhatton because of the construction of the Memorial Stadium, which necessitated tearing up of old track and building of a new one, which has been put in excellent condition for the 1924 season.

In the sprints, the longer distances and the hurdles the Wildcats fared well but the lack of consistent point winners in the jumps and weight events prevented the squad from being a Valley winner.

CAPTAIN-ELECT ERWIN
Flashy, Missouri Valley sprint king.

Kansas Relays

1923 Track

At no open meet in which the Wildcats were entered did they fail to place. Places were won in the Drake, Illinois, and Kansas relays, against some of the west's stiffest competition.

Captain Charles Kuykendall, Ivan Riley, "Red" Irwin, and Hollis Hope were the four consistent Aggie point winners. Captain Kuykendall was the class of the valley distance runners and had things all his own way at both indoor and outdoor Missouri Valley meets.

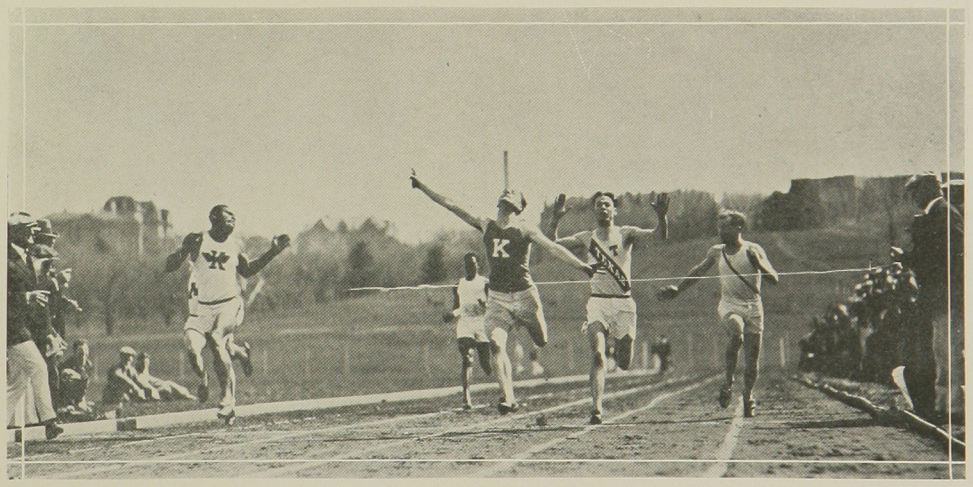

BALZER
Broke into the limelight as teammate to Kuyk

HOPE
All-around track man. His best was the pole vault.

Erwin earned his title as the Aggie flash when he won the 100-yard dash at the Kansas and Drake relays in 9 4-5 seconds. He was also an easy winner of the 100 and 220-yard dashes at Ames. In the century dash two timers caught him at 9 3-5 seconds but a difference in the other watches gave him the official time of 9 4-5.

Drake Relays

A hurdler of national reputation.

Ivan Riley, perhaps, was the most outstanding athlete in the Missouri Valley in 1923. He it was who won the 70-yard low hurdles at the Illinois relays. At the Kansas relay games he was high point man of the meet with a first in the low timbers and a second in the highs. At the Valley meet he duplicated the latter feat. Last summer he set a new American record for the 440-yard low hurdles. Since then he has equalled the world's record for the 60-yard high hurdles and set a new record for the 40-yard high hurdles. Many students of track sports pick Riley for an Olympic champion.

HENRE

A relay team runner and a cross country man

Two-mile Relay

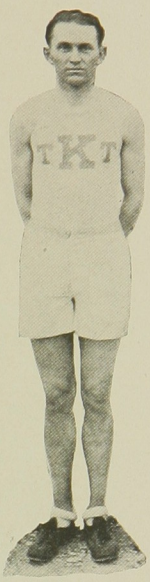

1923 Track

Hollis Hope was a good running mate for Riley in the high sticks. Hope could also usually be counted on for a point in the pole vault. At Ames, in running the hurdle race he met with a severe accident but continued in the pole vault and placed second at twelve feet. Hope's best achievement was his vault of twelve feet three at the Valley outdoor meet.

VON REISEN

A member of the four-mile relay team and a good half-miler.

WILLEY

An unknown who developed into a runner of ability

A. E. Balzer, F. E. Willey, E. von Reisen, and K. Knouse broke their way into the ranks of Aggie "K" men by way of the middle and long distance races. Henre of the last year's squad was also in the distances and the Aggies were almost always sure of points in these events.

Track Squad

CONSTABLE

He turned the Aggie-M. U. dual meet into an Aggie victory

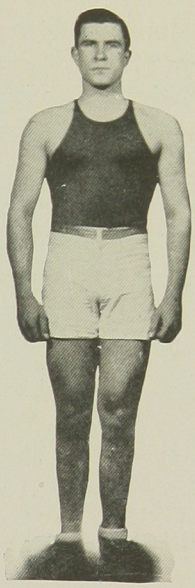

In the jumps and field events the Wildcats were not as strong. Constable tied for first in the high jump at Missouri, but an injury to his ankle the year previous kept him from doing his best work.

John Gartner won his niche in the Aggie Hall of Fame by establishing a new Aggie discus record of 127 feet. He also placed fourth in the discus throw at the Kansas Relays.

KNAUSE

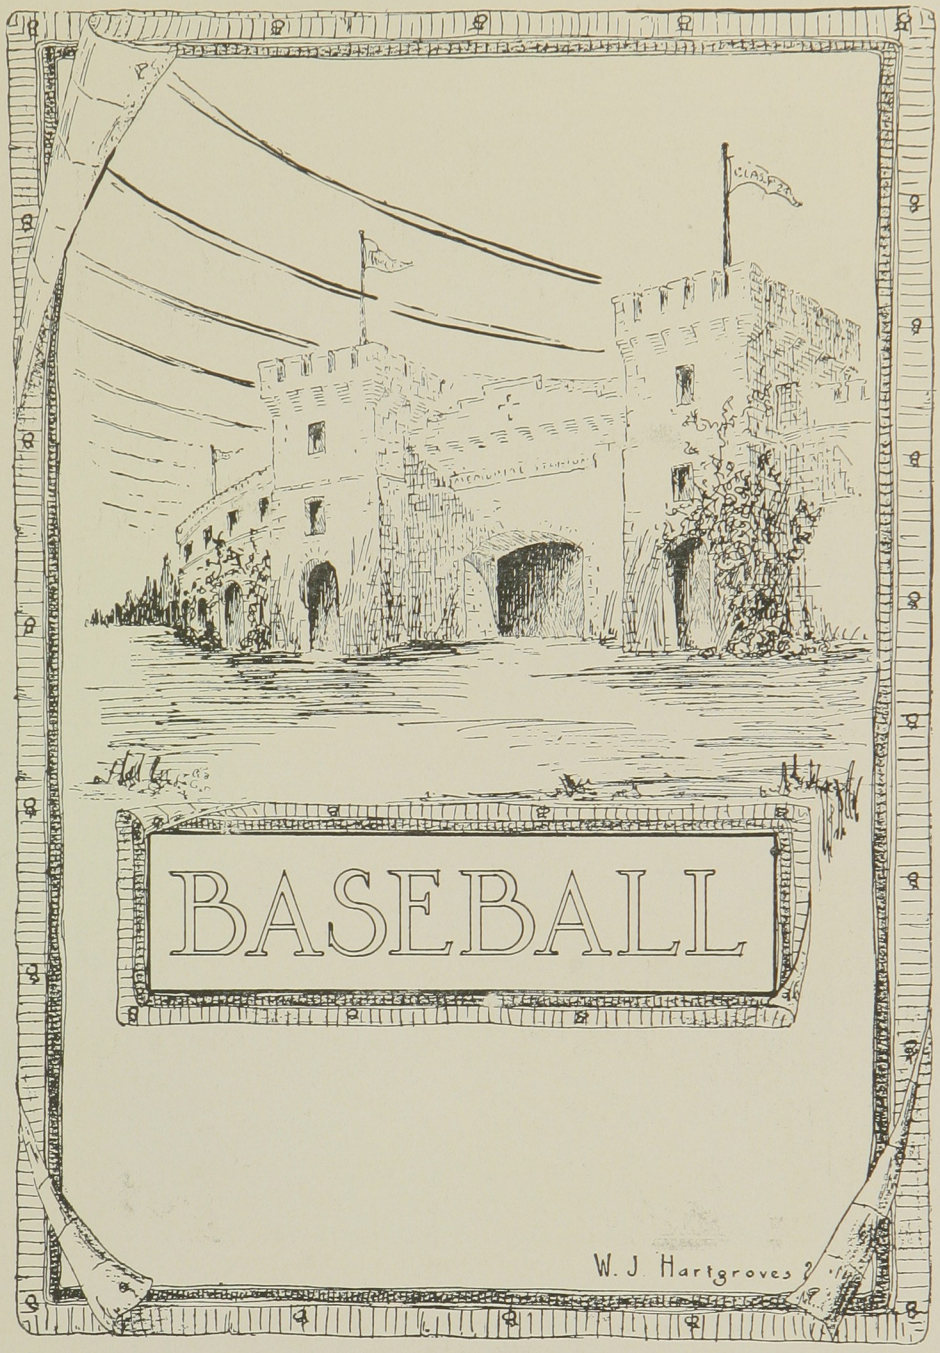

Jumped into the limelight in the Aggie-M. U. meet

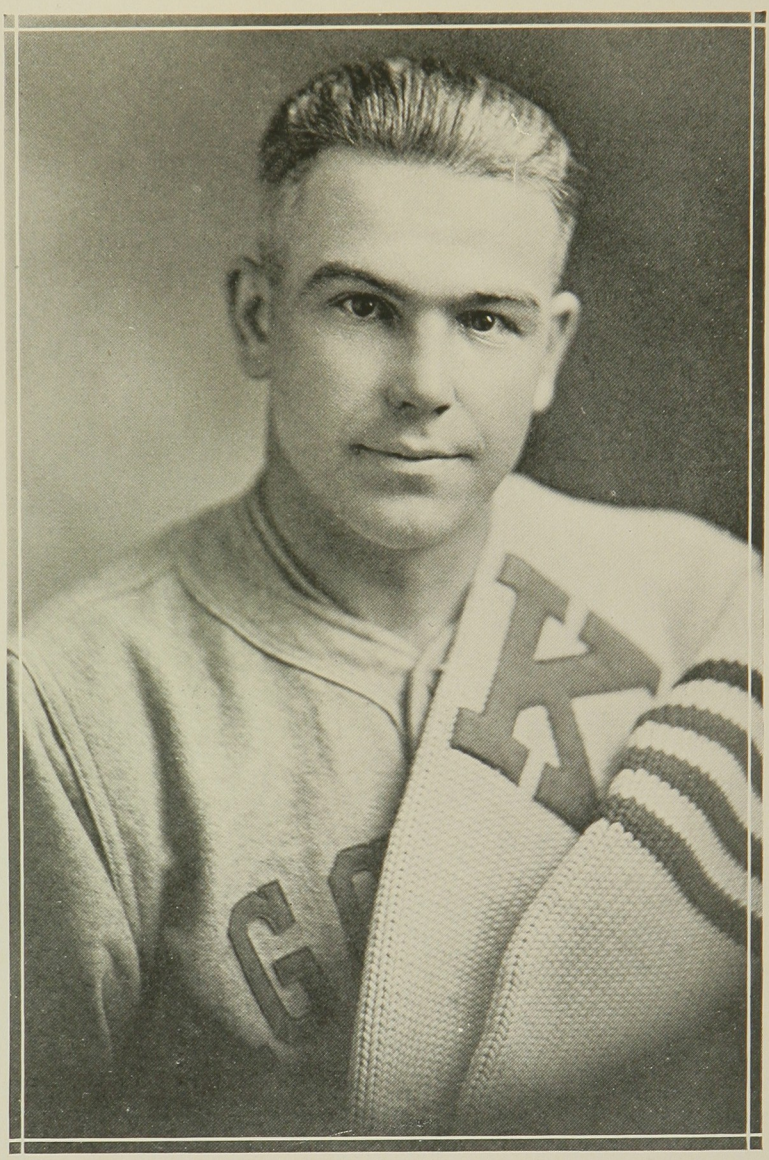

GARTNER

"Gat" promises to be one of the best M. V. discus throwers

The Aggie four-mile quartet composed of Henre, Willey, Balzar, and Kuykendall placed second at the Kansas Relays and the same team with von Reisen substituting for Henre won third place at the Drake Relays. At the latter place the time made by this team was the fastest ever made by an Aggie four-mile quartet.

BASEBALL
W. J. Hartgroves

CAPTAIN LELAND OTIS SINDERSON

CAPTAIN-ELECT GLEN AIKIN

A brilliant fielder, a bad man with the stick, and an able leader.

The 1923 baseball team did not show up any too well as athletes of the great American pastime. The squad got off to a slow start due to the fact that early spring practice was held up on account of bad weather and a poor practice field.

Pitcher Conroy was the outstanding player of the season for the Aggies. He lost only one valley game and that to Kansas University in the final series.

The Curtiss clan won one game from Kansas, one from Oklahoma, and two from Missouri. They lost one to Missouri, three to Kansas, three to Oklahoma, and two to Nebraska.

The one game won from Kansas University at Lawrence was the best game of the season for the Aggies. Ed Cunningham hurled this game and it proved to be a pitchers' battle all the way. The game was to have been a seven-inning battle but went for extra innings before the Wildcats won out by a score of 3 to 2.

The hitting of Lyle Ernst and Glen Aikin set the pace for their team mates while the fielding of Barth was faultless.

Baseball Squad

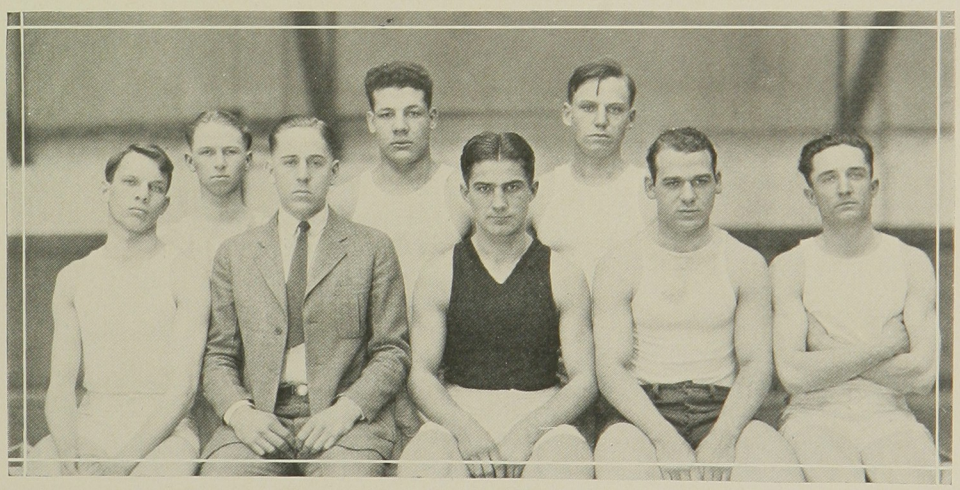

Swimming Team

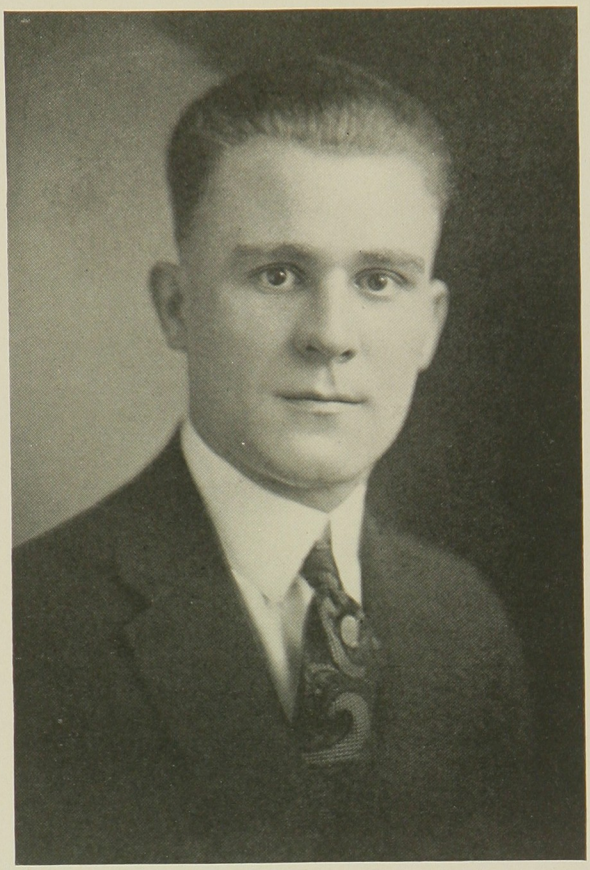

The Aggie swimmers made a very credible showing in the 1924 season. Only two letter men returned from the 1923 team, Colburn and Mackay. The new men on the team were L. C. Miller, P. Carter, Paul Stuenkel, B. C. Harter, C. W. Schemm, and Schaal. Colburn, who has been the big point winner for the past three years will be lost through graduation next year, as will Mackay and Schaal.

Wrestling Team

Intramural Athletics

Intramural athletics at K. S. A. C. are continuing to increase in popularity. This year finds larger entry lists in all the branches of athletics. The race for the season awards is considerable closer this year than was the case last year when the Aggieville Athletic Club walked off with first honors. At the present time at least six organizations are within striking distance of the championship and the winner will probably not be known until the results of the outdoor track meet are in. Following are the results of events to date.

The first varsity boxing team in the history of the school was formed this year and participated in only one regular dual meet, that with Ames. The Aggie boxers made a very good showing although the meet was lost 5 to 2. Four of the matches went into extra round before a decision was reached. The team was composed of the following men: Shepherd, Rose, Hoelzel, Carmean, Schopflin Pearson, Bachelor. Rose and Hoelzel won their matches at Ames. Walgren who was not eligible for the regular team because of the residence clause in the valley rules, and Hoelzel, will compete in the Olypmic tryouts at K. C. A. C. on May 7th and 8th.

WADE MORRIS WATSON

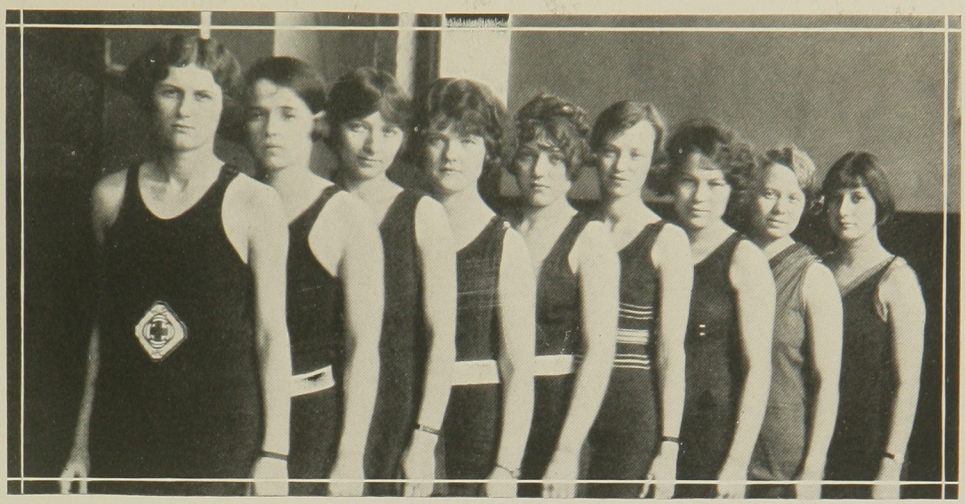

Miss Ruth Morris, head of the department of physical education for women, is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin. This is her first year with the Aggies. Under her direction the department has advanced very materially and athletics have been greatly stimulated. Miss Morris coached hockey. She has introduced archery and clog dancing into the curricula.

Miss Myra Wade, who has been a member of the department for the last two years, is a graduate of Oberlin College. She has charge of corrective gymnasium classes and interpretive dancing. May Fete was given under her direction. Miss Wade is tennis and baseball coach. In baseball she has instituted the use of indoor rules for the combination of outdoor-indoor play formerly used.

Miss Geneva Watson, another new member of the department, is from the University of Chicago. Miss Watson is the best basketball coach that Kansas Aggie girls have ever had. She has added a new feature to the elective classes—character dancing. Miss Watson is track and tennis coach, and she "hath a way with her" that makes girls get out and work.

The new system, introduced the second semester, of requiring two hours of elective and one hour of regular floor work has proved very popular. Many new courses—archery, track, character dancing, and clogging are now offered in addition to the old standbys—hockey, basketball, baseball, swimming, tennis, folk and interpretive dancing. The department offers courses that appeal to all types of girls. Physical education is rapidly becoming a more vital and interesting part of the life of the women students of K. S. A. C.

THOMPSON, KING, DOLL, MCCOIN, HOOPER, SMITH, SEXTON, RENFRO, HOWARD

The American Red Cross Life Saving Corps of K. S. A. C. has a membership of eleven girls, who have worked hard to increase the number to thirty by the end of the school year.

On every Tuesday, members of the corps had charge of the pool and assist in teaching the methods to applicants. Those eligible were then passed by the examiners, Laureda Thompson and Corinne Smith.

Captain Law of the Southwest Division of the American Red Cross came to Manhattan early in the spring. He gave instruction to the corps in the new methods adopted by the national organization. He also gave an exhibition of these methods in the men's pool.

A new system of organization for practice preliminary to class games was introduced into women's athletics this year. Seniors and Juniors met for practice on one night; Sophomores the next night and Freshman the following night. There were enough girls out for hockey in each of the two lower classes to make two teams, so that they were assigned separate nights for practice. This system made it possible for the coach to get a better idea how to pick class teams than the old style color tournament did.

The basketball tournament left the Seniors disputing possession of the cellar with the Sophomores. Their record of four losses, one tie and one win gave them the claim to the tail of the kite. The honors were almost even—the Seniors beat the Sophomores once and the Sophomores beat the Seniors once—the only game either team won!

Junior Basketball Team

The Juniors ranked second in the interclass basketball tournament. They won three games, tied one and lost both their games to the Freshmen.

Sophomore Basketball Team

The Sophomore basketball team played in hard luck. One of their guards tore the ligaments in her shoulder and so was out of the tournament. Their side-center had a badly sprained wrist. The loss of these two players greatly weakened the team. They threaten to come back next year and make a hot fight for the championship.

MILITARY

Major CHARLES A. CHAPMAN

The Reserve Officers' Training Corps

K. S. A. C. now has four Major Generals of the Army who are known throughout this country and Europe for their distinguished records in War and Peace. Over one hundred men are now working for Commissions as lieutenants in the Army of the United States, some to the Regular Army and the others to the Reserve.

In addition to the patriotic duty being fulfilled by the students of this school in preparing themselves to defend their country they are entering through the R. O. T. C. in competition with Colleges and Universities all over this country in both Military and Athletic lines.

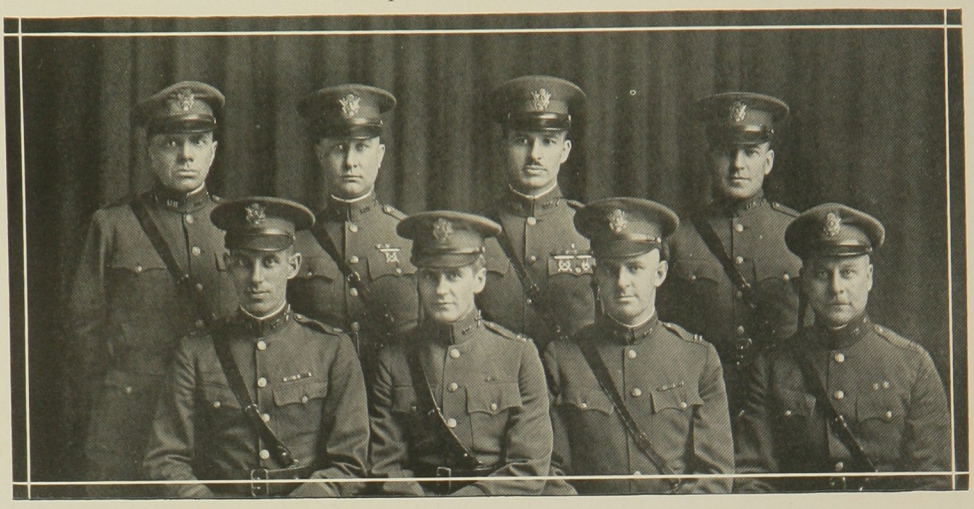

During this last year, K. S. A. C. furnished one of the five best Collegiate rifle shots at the National Rifle Shoot, the Best Individual Athlete at the Corps Area Camp, accepted all challenges for every competition offered by schools from coast to coast and came out with an honorable place.

Of peculiar note and importance stands the fact that the Aggies were able in all company to win not only the respect but the affectionate regard from other colleges and from the Officers of the Regular Army who were working with them.

As all who have been detailed here by the War Department, I hate to leave.

Under the management of Harry R. Wilson the quartet did some commendable work both for the college and for the people of Manhattan. During the first week in March the four made a tour of eleven high schools in eastern and southern Kansas, including Effingham, Atchison, Kansas City, Argentine, Rosedale, Fort Scott, Girard, Parsons, Cherryvale, Coffeyville, and Independence.

The different luncheon clubs of Manhattan have enjoyed the work of this organization. The quartet act in Aggie orpheum was rated second place by the audience.

One senior, Albert Goering, and three sophomores, Harry Wilson, Ralph Blackledge, and Floyd Strong are the personnel of the quartet.

The purpose of the Students' Self-Governing Association is to place the control and advancement of student interests and activities in the hands of the student body itself, with the firm belief that this arrangement will cause an increased self-control, resulting in higher ideals and better co-operation, and that officers of sufficient wisdom and maturity can be found so that appeal to college authorities shall be unnecessary.

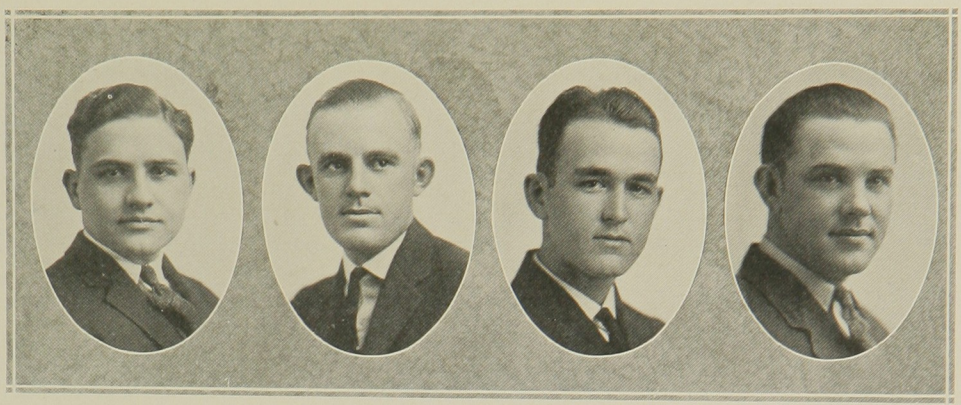

The S. S. G. A. had charge of publishing the student directories which were distributed to all students and faculty.

Two delegates, H. L. Gillman and G. R. Dowd, attended the Midwest Student Conference held in Nashville, Tennessee, May 2, 3 and 4.

The American Society of Mechanical Engineers is a national organization of men engaged in the profession of engineering and mechanical construction. To further extend its sphere of usefulness the society has established student branches in accredited engineering schools, each branch being under the jurisdiction of the society.

The student branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers was established at the Kansas State Agricultural College in 1917. Meetings of the branch are held semi-monthly and consist of discussion of current problems and talks by prominent men.

The student chapter of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers was chartered in January, 1921, with twenty-nine students enrolled in the department of Agricultural Engineering.

The chapter holds a weekly meeting to discuss the problems that come up before the profession and in this way keeps in closer touch with the national A. S. A. E.

Winners International Live Stock Judging Contest, 1923

Second row—KEDSTROM, MAGEE, BAKER

The team places second at the American Royal contest in 1923, being first on hogs and sheep, third on cattle and fifth on horses.

At the International Contest at Chicago, the same team won the "Bronze Bull" in competition with eighteen other teams. This is the trophy given by the Union Stockyards Co. to the team placing first at Chicago. It has never been won before by Kansas. The team was not lower than sixth on any class of livestock.

By this victory, Professor Bell enhanced an already unexcelled record as a Coach of Stock Judging.

Junior Stock Judging Team

Top row—SEARS, ELLIS, TRUBY
Second row—RUSSELL, SMITH, BELL, HUNTINGTON

This team, also coached by Professor Bell, won third in the contest at the National Western Livestock Show in 1924.

Treasurer	H. L. SUMNERS	R. L. STOVER

The Dairy Club was organized in 1914 for the purpose of promoting interest among its members in the field of Dairy Husbandry. Meetings of the club are held the second and fourth Mondays of the month. They consist of a short business session, followed by an interesting and instructive program, which pertains to the dairy industry. The program is usually furnished by members of the club. However, men of prominence in any of the phases of dairying are secured whenever possible.

Dairy Judging Team

CHARLES RAINES — CAVE (Coach) — STOVER WATSON

The Dairy Judging team of 1923 competed for honors at the Waterloo Dairy Cattle Congress, Waterloo, Iowa, and at the National Dairy Show at Syracuse, New York. The team won second at the National Dairy Show, competing against twenty-eight other teams. R. L. Stover was first on Jerseys, tied for first on Holsteins and was third high in the entire contest. At Waterloo the team placed third and was high on Holsteins.

The increasing interest in this work at K. S. A. C. is very largely due to the consistent and sincere efforts of Professor H. W. Cave, who is widely recognized as a leader in Collegiate judging work.

BRAUM DIRKS DOUGLAS PROF. BARNETT FILINGER

The apple judging team won first place at the Central States Horticultural Conference and Exposition held at Kansas City, December 18, 1923. This Conference and Show was organized last year to alternate with the Mid-West Horticultural Conference which meets on even numbered years at Council Bluffs, Iowa.

This is the first apple judging team to compete in an intercollegiate contest since 1912 when "Mike" Ahearn was Professor of Pomology at K. S. A. C.

This team was coached by Prof. R. J. Barnett, who formerly coached six winning teams for the National Apple Show at Spokane, Washington. Professor Barnett is not only an excellent coach but is also one of the foremost fruit judges in the United States. The high ranking of the K. S. A. C. team is due to his efficient coaching.

The Agricultural Association was formed in the spring of 1921. The membership consists of students enrolled in the Division of Agriculture. The purpose of the organization is to foster all activities of the division. The association provides mixers for the students of the division and through the meetings of the general council takes care of all the business that comes before the organization.

Since its organization, the association has undertaken two projects, the Annual Agricultural Fair and the publication of the Kansas Agricultural Student. Both of these projects have been successful.

The Kansas State Collegian, the official publication of the student body of K. S. A. C., had its beginning January 8, 1896, in "The Student's Herald," a weekly four-page paper which had from five to seven editors and one reporter. In April, 1913, the name was changed to "The Kansas Aggie," and April 25, 1914, the first issue of the Kansas State Collegian, a semi-weekly, was published.

The increasingly large number of students enrolling in journalism, made necessary a new plan of operation which was inaugurated at the beginning of the second semester. The editorial responsibility was divided between an editor-in-chief and a managing editor, and the reportorial organization was completely revised. The inch requirement was abolished and now the fifteen students selected as reporters are excused from a certain amount of class work.

The Engineer is published four times during the school year. It is a member of College Magazines Associated, an organization composed of similar publications in nineteen of the leading engineering schools in the east and middle west. The Kansas State Engineer is sent to all the large universities and colleges in the United States, to most of the high schools in the state, to the county engineers in Kansas, and to each engineering student at K. The Kansas Agricultural Student is a periodical published by the students in the Division of Agriculture. It was established by the action of the Agricultural Association in 1921. The magazine is published quarterly by the students, alumni and faculty and contains material relating to agricultural interests.

Its purpose is to establish in its reader a more active interest in agricultural affairs, to widen the publicity of the college and the division and to provide the students with practical knowledge in the editing of such a publication.

The circulation of the magazine includes the men of the Division, all the accredited High Schools of the state and the leading agricultural colleges and Universities of the United States.

Inter-Collegiate Debate

More people have taken part in intercollegiate debate at K. S. A. C. this year than ever before, discussing not only the official Pi Kappa Delta question, namely, the League of Nations, but also the World Court, the Occupation of the Ruhr, and the Transportation Act of 1920.

We have had in all, eleven decision debates, of which we won eight. The men's varsity team participated in seven debates, of which they won six, the women's varsity team won two out of three, while the "Frosh" men succeeded in bringing home the victory in their one decision debate. In addition they participated in three no-decision debates, and the varsity women participated in three no-decision debates. These were with a variety of schools, including Iowa State College, Kansas State Teachers' College, Westminster College, Warrensburg Normal, Kansas University, Washburn College, Oklahoma University, Michigan Agricultural College, Baker University, Ottawa University, Park College, Bethany College, Southwestern University, Colorado Agricultural College, and Montana State College. Negotiations are under way for contracts with even a larger number of schools next year, including the larger colleges and universities.

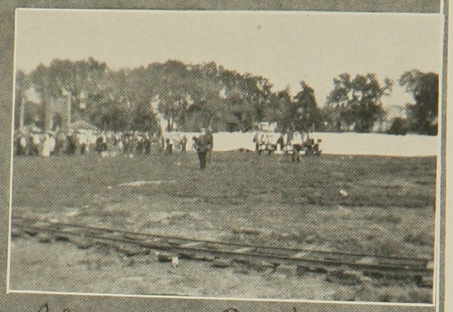

Professor H. B. Summers, who came to K. S. A. C. in September, 1923, from Park College, where he had coached many winning teams, has been our coach this year. Professor H. A. Shinn of the Department of Public Speaking has helped with some of the teams.

Randall Hill, senior in General Science, coached a girls' team which by contract was to be "student coached." We are sorry to say we cannot report the decision since it was a no-decision debate, but we know that there would have been no bad news.

At any rate, Professor Summers has very definite plans for extending debate at K. S. A. C., including the possibility of a Kansas Debating League, and of a trip to the western coast for the men. The co-eds are trying to convince him that they, too, are deserving of more trips.

INTER-SOCIETY PLAY CAST

One of the important activities of the literary societies is the annual Intersociety play, produced by members of the various societies. "Miss Lulu Bett," a three act comedy was presented by the Intersociety players April 4.

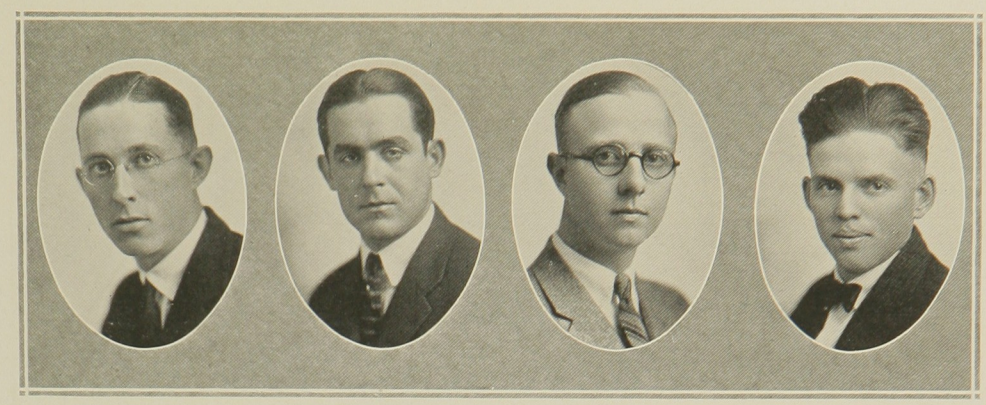

MARTIN FRITZ W. C. KERR

INTER-COLLEGIATE ORATORS

Mr. Martin Fritz of Manhattan, won second place in the annual Missouri Valley Oratorical Contest, held at St. Louis, Missouri, March 21. Mr. William C. Kerr represented the college in the second annual oratorical contest held with the Montana State Agricultural College at Manhattan April 11.

WINNERS OF INTER-SOCIETY DEBATE

The Athenian debate team, composed of C. R. Londerholm, E. W. Westgate, H. H. Brown, and coached by R. W. Sherman, won the annual Intersociety debate contest for 1923 The debate cup offered by the department of English to the society winning the annual Intersociety debate, is again held by the Athenians. The Ionians won the cup last year, but it was held for the two years previous by the Athenians.

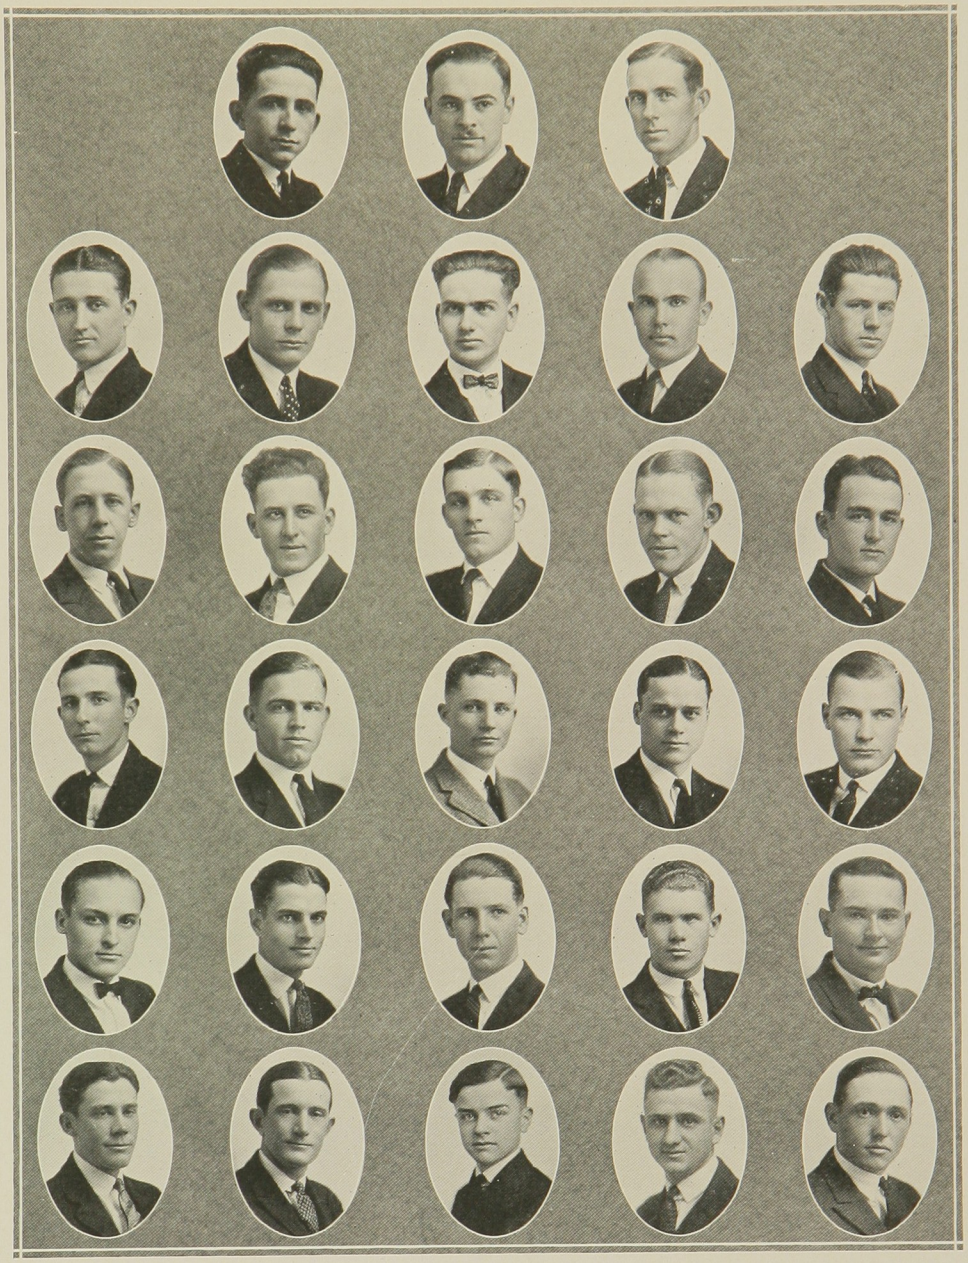

GEORGE CORBET ORPHA RUSSELL LEONORA DOLL

INTER-SOCIETY ORATORICAL WINNERS

Unusual interest was shown in the twenty-fourth annual Intersociety Oratorical Contest, held March 8, 1924. Mr. George W. Corbet, Webster, won first place. Second place was awarded to Miss Orpha Russell, Eurodelphian, and third place to Leonora Doll, Franklin. This is the second consecutive victory for the Webster Literary Society.

Ever working for the ideal of fostering a better fraternity among students, ever hoping for the advancement of the principles of service, and ever striving to uphold its place among campus organizations. The Young Men's Christian Association has evinced an active program that has made the organization invaluable to the college. For the past five years, the Y. M. C. A. has been under the leadership of Dr. A. A. Holtz, who as general secretary has extended the activities of the association far beyond our campus limits.

The Y. M. C. A. at the college may well be called a "service organization," for it has always stood ready to take up any activity that tended to promote a better understanding of fellowship among college students.

The Young Women's Christian Association seeks to be a fellowship of college women, students and faculty, who are striving to live as true followers of the Lord Jesus Christ. This fellowship seeks to express itself through the weekly vesper services and through the smaller groups of committees, the chairmen of which are members of the first cabinet.

Alpha Chapter was organized at the University of Illinois by Rev. S. E. Fisher. In 1913 under the leadership of Rev. J. David Arnold, a group of girls organized a Bethany Circle at K. S. A. C. The next year Bethany Circle became a national organization with this chapter as Beta chapter. In 1915 Bethany Circle became a college organization as well as a church organization, and now has a membership of fifty-three. Since 1915 there have been five other chapters added. They are located at the Universities of Michigan, Iowa, Kansas and Illinois.

The Kappa Phi was organized at the University of Kansas in 1916: "To form a closer association among our Methodist women who are the students in the state and Independent Universities; To make our work among student women of our denomination more effective and sufficient; to maintain a more serviceable organization to take care of our incoming freshman each year, and to provide in a college woman's way, religious training and wholesome social life, that we may be stronger, more efficient women of the Church of "Tomorrow." There are now thirteen active chapters.

The Vocational School

The Vocational School, formerly the School of Agriculture, was organized in 1913, and will be discontinued at the close of the present school year. The purpose of the school was to offer vocational training to boys and girls of less than college rank. Three courses were offered, Agriculture, Mechanic Arts, and Home Economics.

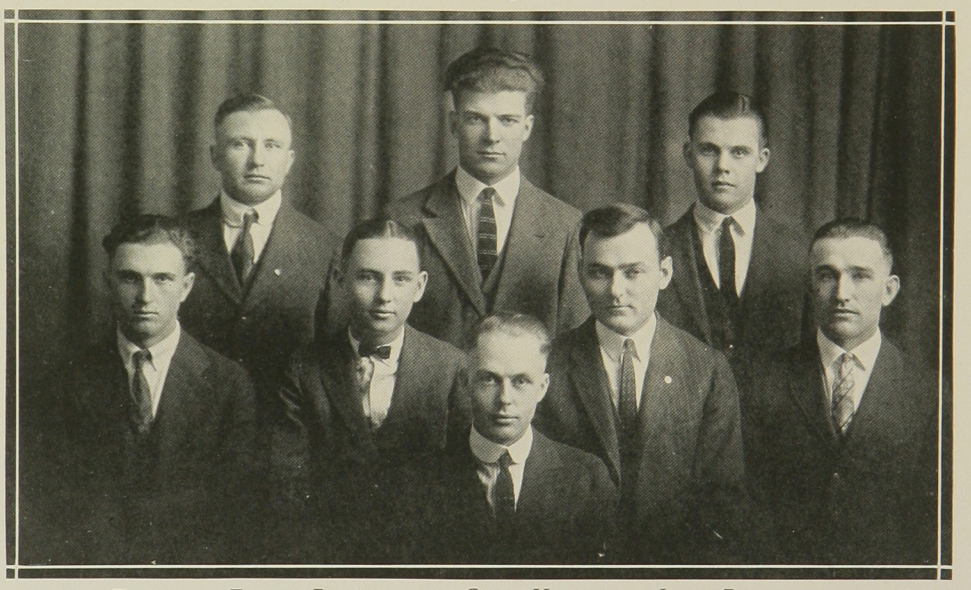

During the first school year there were 658 students enrolled. The enrollment has steadily decreased, and during the past school year there were less than 100 students enrolled. During the eleven years of its existence it has enrolled students from practically every state in the Union, and from seven foreign countries. Ten classes have been graduated, totalling 125 graduates. Forty-eight per cent of the graduates have entered college. More than 300 Veterans' Bureau students have been trained in the Vocational School, and more than 2,200 students have registered in the school during its existence. Professor H. L. Kent, now President of New Mexico A. & M. College was the first principal, and Professor A. P. Davidson succeeded him.

The Lincoln Literary Society was organized October 27, 1913. The college societies limited their members to college students, thereby eliminating the vocational students. The vocational students wishing to gain the education derived from a literary society, organized the Lincoln and Philomathian literary societies. The number of members of the two societies diminished until it was necessary to merge them. The merging was accomplished by a slight revision of the constitution.

The diminishing of the membership at the end of the semester of 1923 and the cessation of the vocational school necessitated the complete dissolution of the society.

Theta Sigma Phi, honorary and professional fraternity, was organized in 1909 for the purpose of broadening the field of journalism for women and raising the standards of work in that field. The fraternity strives to interest college girls in the profession and to maintain the ideals of good fellowship, work and ambition. It has been very influential in paving the way for women in journalism. Membership of Theta Sigma Phi is limited to upper classmen who are doing creditable work along practical as well as scholastic lines of journalistic endeavor.

Phi Delta Kappa is an honorary educational fraternity, organized for the purpose of developing a more complete professionalism, social fellowship, and productive scholarship among its members. Chief among its aims is the scientific investigation of public education in the interests of humanity, thus developing and utilizing those qualities of Research, Service and Leadership for which Phi Delta Kappa preeminently stands. Phi Delta Kappa has existed as a national fraternity under its present organization since 1910. At present there are thirty-eight chapters, located in the leading educational institutions of the country.

For many years the literary societies were the center of dramatic activities at K. S. A. C., but there came a time when stage-craft became of such interest to the student-body that a special dramatic organization seemed necessary. The K. S. A. C. Dramatic Club was formed. From this club in December, 1915, the Purple Masque was organized, under the supervision of Professor James G. Emerson, then head of the Public Speaking Department. The Masque continue to work in conjunction with the department, a member of whose faculty is designated as coach of the Purple Masque productions.

Purple Masque

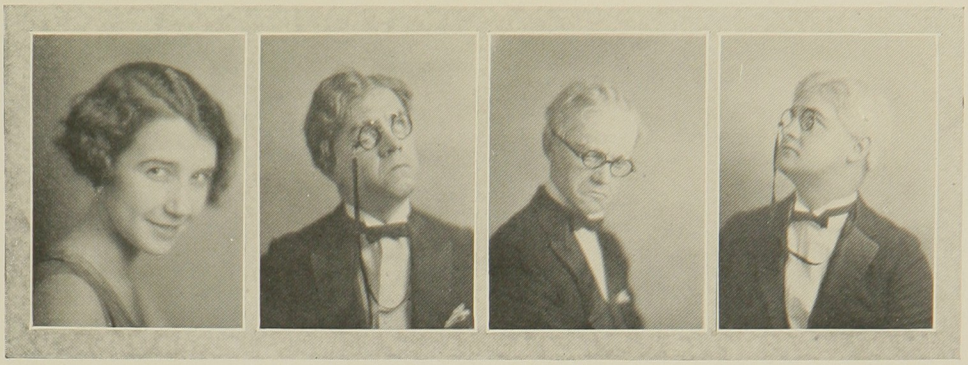

The Purple Masque Players celebrated their ninth anniversary this year with their masterful production "Three Wise Fools." The play was taken on a tour to Concordia, Salina, Chapman, Junction City, and Hutchinson. The cast was composed of Harold Sappenfield, Fred Voiland, John Wray Young, Gladys Sandford, Winifred West, James Lansing, Melvine Thompson, Jack Kennedy, and Milton Eisenhower.

The cast was accompanied on tour by Mrs. W. West, the chaperone, Professor Ray E. Holcombe, the Director, and Clifford C. Jolley, the Business Manager.

This year the Players formed an apprentice group called the "56" Group because all tryouts are held in G 56. From this group the casts for the one-act plays are chosen. The first group of one-act plays included "The Brink of Silence," directed by Blanche Forrester, and played by Dave Hervey, Newton Cross, and William Carpenter. The second play, also directed by Mrs. Blanche Forrester, was "The Trysting Place," played by Lillian Kammeyer, John Wray Young, Forrest Whan, Velma Lockridge, Kathryn King, Gene Conklin, and Magnum Fox. The third play, "Sham," was directed by Miss Quennie Hart, and played by John Fuller, Mary Kimble, and Magnum Fox.

The last play on the program, "Three Pills in a Bottle," was directed by Miss Dorothy Sanders and played by Charlotte Swanson, Ruth Falconer, Dorothy Whan, Bernice O'Daniels, Gene Stevens, Alex Van Pelt, Ira Call, and Cecil Archer.

Purple Masque

GLADYS SANFORD JOHN YOUNG HAROLD SAPPENFIELD FERDINAND VOILAND

The second program of one-act plays included "The Golden "Doom," "The Wonder Hat," and "Wurzel Flummery."

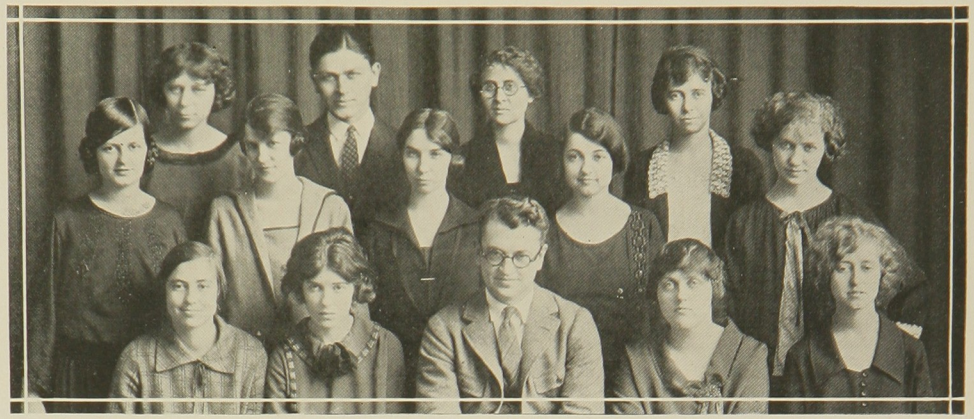

The Players presented "The Admirable Crichton," a very ambitious undertaking for the Festival Week Play. Special scenery depicting the very beautiful island scene, was secured from an out-of-town Scenic Firm.

This year the Players inaugurated the custom, pursued by some of the larger schools, of holding a very distinctive and exclusive function called "The Players Ball." Gala attire for the women, formal dress for the men, weird and colorful lights, dreamy and unusual music, and "Encores Dramatiques" was the vogue of the evening.

The "Players Ball" will become an annual event, and take the place of the annual Banquet held at the end of each school year.

As a further evidence of the interest in Dramatic work at the college, the Players report that the course in Dramatic Production in the Public Speaking Department now has a capacity enrollment. A second course in Dramatic Production II was formed the second semester, which also served to increase the enrollment of the Department.

Foreword

Listen my children and you shall hear,
Such scoops as will fill your heart with fear;
Of the petting parties of Mary and Bill,
Of bootleg Chuck, and his dandelion still;
Of the inside dope on the Clean-up Day,
Of just how Alice got that way;
Of the Waterbury that Prexy lost,
A hundred and thirty is what it cost;
Of the fate that befell Hill's brand new car
The night he went just a bit too far;
Of Posy's war on the guy who cribs,
Of the S. S. G. A. and about His Nibs,
Guy Bartgis, the speaker with silver tongue,
And the dizzy party the K. Sigs flung.
This and more we disclose, hear the skeletons rattle,
Muster the Remingtons, on with the battle!

Sig Alf

The Sig Alfs Clean House

The Stucco fraternity entertained this afternoon for the active members of the organization with a tea dance at the chapter house, the music being furnished by the Arch Tickler orchestra from Cedar Ridge.

The rooms were tastefully and beautifully decorated with violets and trailing hop vines, while strings of raisins were gracefully festooned from the ceiling.

Sister Diefendorf, famed throughout seven states as a brewer of orange pekoe, poured, ably assisted by Mesdames Dowd, Wareham, and Claybaugh. Tiny gold flasks bearing the fraternity crest, and cakes of yeast neatly wrapped in tinfoil were given as favors.

The entire program was broadcast from the powerful KFKB station. Since the dance, several telegrams have been received from each of the 94 active chapters, and hundreds of communications from alumni, congratulating Beta chapter on the success of the party. One man in Portland reported that the sipping of the tea was as audible as if it had been in the next room.

Burr Recuperates After a Losing Night

In athletics the Fie Delts reign supreme. Thanks to T's able coaching, they were able to win the basketball tournament, and to place second in baseball.

African golf and poker, however, are the chief pastimes of this group of Has-Beens, Would-Bes, and Might-Have-Beens. Many are the parties held behind closed doors, which break up in the wee small hours of the morning. After the last one Bill paid a three months' board bill, purchased a new suit, and took a date to the show. Johnie, Clark and Allen usually share in the honors. Max might win sometimes were his generator not always beyond control.

Tri Delt

Red Devils, the Morning After

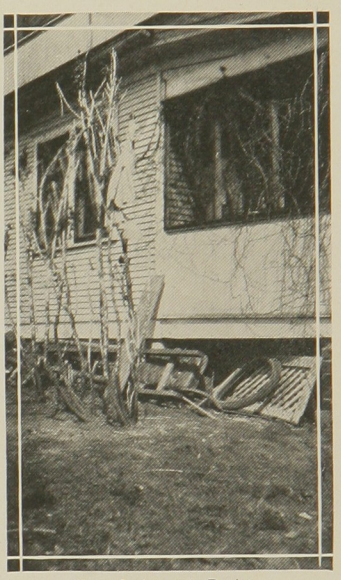

We shall next turn our attention to the order of the triple triangle. About all that can be said for the members of this organization is that they mean well. However, the freshmen do show promise, and it is hoped that the contemplated move next year will bring the group once more into the ranking of the Big Four.

For speed and endurance Varner has the other sistern backed off the map, having won three gabbing contests, when marathons were in vogue. Other personalities who have landed a flicker from the spotlight of campus consideration are the ever popular Josephine, Dance-Dating Flora, Moore, Fisher, and the Wonder-Child, Mildred.

Pie K Aye

Pi K. A. Tea Hound

Ever working toward the ideal of obtaining a better footing on the social ladder, ever hoping for the advancement of the individuals of the group, and ever striving to uphold the honor of the garnet and gold, Pie k Aye has evinced an active program that has made the organization invaluable to woman's Panhell.

Roberts when interviewed for publication let fall the following pearls of wisdom: "We fully realize the responsibility which rests upon us to watch and report the dongs of the Alpha Delts. We are also aware of the duty which devolves upon us to polish and perfect the tender youths entrusted to our keeping. Even in infancy we begin to teach them that vulgarity and crudity are not to be tolerated in the best circles. In furtherance of this noble and unselfish policy round table discussions with practical demonstrations are held each Wednesday evening at the chapter house.

Sig Ma New

"Cards please," muttered the butler, as he threw open the door of the spacious New home, and upon producing the proper credentials and giving the password, one is escorted within, where he is permitted to view the greatest collection of Reginalds, tea hounds, and social stars ever known in Aggie history. Three barber shops are kept running night and day in the chapter house basement, and a special corps of manicurists and beauty experts are in constant demand.

It Can't Be Water!

A diligent and painstaking search into the annals of the chapter, the present membership, and the mysteries of the order has failed to reveal a single outstanding man whom the chapter has produced, with the exception of Starkie and Spud, who are both mentioned in "Who's Who in Ladyfussers."

For this reason the chapter must needs seek publicity far and wide, and woe betide the careless editor who neglects to give them less than 19 top heads in each issue of his paper. The fratres are said to possess the most pins of any organization on the hill, and all but two of them are out.

A Clean Slate for the Future

The babies of the Greek letter world have finished cutting their eye teeth and are now turning their attention to learning a few dance steps.

The organization has had a surprisingly rapid growth. Baird's Manuel, 1920 edition has the following to say: "A society having a chapter at the Massachusetts Agricultural College. It is reported to have chapters at Boston University and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, but letters addressed to its chapters at these places were returned undelivered. Nothing further is known." The fraternity now numbers 63 chapters.

Gamma Xi boasts such local lights as Kimball, Healea, Harris, Scholz, McWilliams and Ballard.

Klix

Almighty Cupid, great god of love and of lovers, there are many things which we have not, yea a goodly number which we earnestly desire, namely (1) dates, (2) Greek letters, (3) pledges, and (4) social standing. Of these, dear friendly little god, the first is the most important, but we pray thee, if it be possible, give to us the second also.

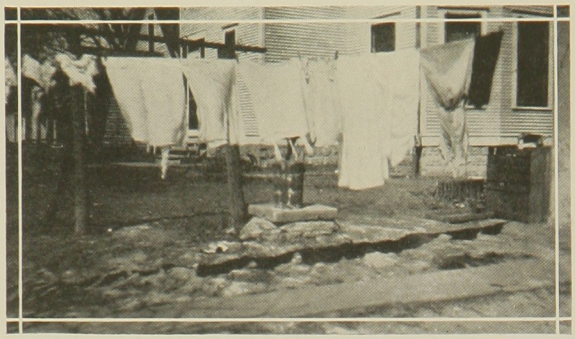

Darken our eyes like thine, that we may overlook the faults of our sisters. Link our name with that of some fraternity, we care not whom, and for god's sake let us go national before the year is out. All this we ask in Polly's name. Amen.

Kappa Delt

Sunday Morning at the Kappa Delt House

The Kappa Delts gave a party and bade many.

And they sent Max at evening to say to those that were bidden, come; for all things are now ready.

And they all with one consent began to make excuse. And the first one said, My mother is ill unto death, and I must needs go to Kansas City for the week end. I pray thee have me excused.

And another said, I have bought a Ford, and must go to prove it; I pray thee have me excused.

And another said, I have a date with a Pie Fie. I pray thee have me excused. And another, I will take the house mother if I must, but a pledge I will not take. I pray thee have me excused.

So Max returned and told the girls these things. And the girls were very angry and said unto Max: Go out quickly to all of thy friends and bring in hither the Kappa Sigs, the A. T. O.'s, the Sig Alphs, and the Sig Eps, that our pledges may have dates.

And Max said, I have done as thou commanded and there is yet room. And the girls said, Go out into the highways and hedges and compel them to come in.

And behold, when Max came again into the highways and hedges, the Greeks had got wind of her coming and there was not one to be found.

Alpha Sigma Psi

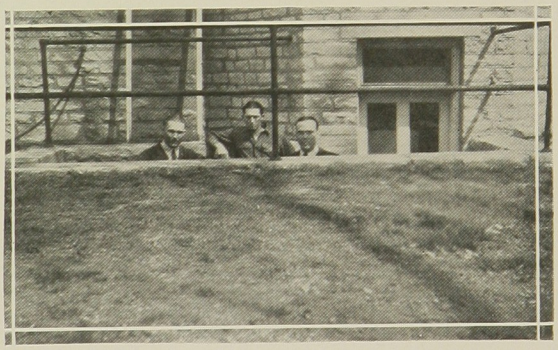

An Alpha Psi he was
But that is o'er,
For this year he's a dirty
Yet no more.

Since leaving the ranks of the Alpha Psis, the brethren have turned their attention to the terpsichorean art. So ardent is their devotion to what is, for them, a new pursuit, that they secured two orchestras for their spring party. One was stationed at each end of the hall, and they played continuously with no intermission between dances. This plan had an added attraction in that it saved them the painful necessity of making conversation for ten minutes at a time. No wonder they love to dance.

Peach Blossoms and Lemons

Triangulars

Three Shots for a Nickel

Having tired of the moronic gibbering of the student body, and disliking the rare altitude of the hill, the Triangulars left their old abode and ventured into the wiles of the wicked city. The wickedness has not as yet palled. But imagine their dismay to find, after a year's residence in their new home that they are no closer to Greece than they were before. In fact they are now much closer to decadent Rome than they are to the land of the Hellenists.

But even yet the brethren do not despair, and perhaps they may ride to fame on the broad shoulders of Vernon Oswald Clements.

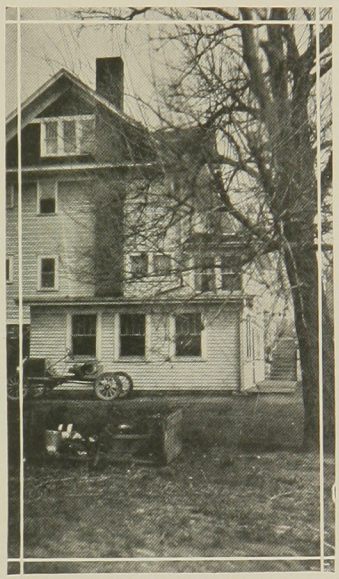

Alpha Xi Delta

Parking space, both indoors and out, is the one thing which is lacking at the Alpha Xi Delta house, for strange as it may seem, they rate not only dates, but dates with cars. This in spite of the fact that dates are required to leave promptly at 11:30 except on dance nights, and even then they must go at 2.

The house rules provide that at least one girl shall put on a pin each week, and a regular schedule is posted in the bathroom at the beginning of the semester showing when each girl is to be ready with chocolates. Thus each member can count on one thrill a week when she is permitted to kiss her newest brother-in-law.

Kap Alfalfa

See the nice big au-to-mo-bile, children? It is a Second Hand Packard Pud-dle Jump-er, and it is Some Bug! Once upon a time the Kap Alfalfas did not have any Car, or any House, or any Soc-ial Stand-ing. But a Bunch of Live Wires got together one night, and brought all their little Sun-day School Banks with them. How the Pen-nies rattled on the Old Red Car-pet! Karl had Fif-teen Pen-nies, and Paul had Sev-en-teen, and Russell had a Can-ad-ian Quart-er, and Jack had Two Bits! (You see, children, Jack was getting ready to Set Up House-keeping.) The Other Fellows wrote home to their Rich Papas, and Borrowed a L' tle from their Friends, and by and by they had enough to Rent a Nice Big House on Anderson Boulevard. Wasn't that Splen-did? And then they worked Hard, and Saved, and Scrimped, till they had enough to buy a Second Hand Packard Pud-dle Jump-er, and that meant Soc-ial Stand-ing! Isn't their story Thrilling, children dear?

Fie Cappa

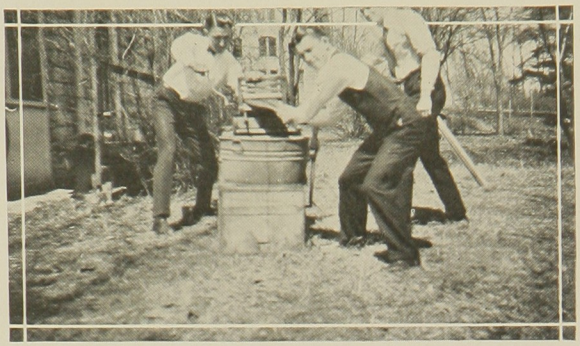

Tending the Still

The organization has almost gone to rack and ruin since Papa Leonard began his editorial duties, and were it not for the tender ministrations of Gene, and the fact that Quinn was called home, thus reducing the board bill by half, the chapter would even now be on the rocks. As it is, the shingle is still out.

Phi Sigma Kappa

A Dirty Deal

Step right up ladies and gentlemen and gaze upon the stronghold of true democracy. Bargie, the pride of this group of intellectuals, is now president of everything but woman's Panhell, and he refused to be a candidate for that office. Bates, his understudy, and candidate for next year's offices, is said to be the best looking man on the hill. His successful elimination of Roughneck Day from the Aggie calendar may be taken as a promise of the heights he hopes some day to attain.

Can't see any difference???
Well, well, well!
Even the Kappa pledges
Are taught that difference
The very first thing.

A Freezing Morning for the Phi Delts

Betah

The Can Gang

For countless years the Betas have prospered under the steadying influence of Zim and Neal. With their passing, however, the organization has sunk to the depths. No longer does the coed pledge's heart flutter at the mere thought of a phone call from a Beta, no longer is the order the self appointed keeper of the young and innocent Pie Fies, no longer do they aspire to be the social guardians of Panhell. Simplicity is the keynote of the new regime.

Social leadership being out of the question, an effort is being made to appear democratic. In furtherance of this policy, and in order to give the boys a fair chance when they return to the harvest fields in the summer, there has been no matron at the Beta house since rush week.

Pie Fie

LADY WITH A PIN

Shadows play upon the silvery platinum arrow as the encrusted diamonds catch, hold, reflect, and make a lovely composition in light and dark. The arrow is long and slender, an interesting arrangement of straight lines. On one end is a point, on the other the characters of Pi Beta Phi. The pin, painted on a dark background, is the center of interest. The background has the lustrous texture of lovely material and upon closer observation it is found to be the gown of a lady, a lovely lady, the First Lady of the Land, Mrs. Calvin Coolidge.

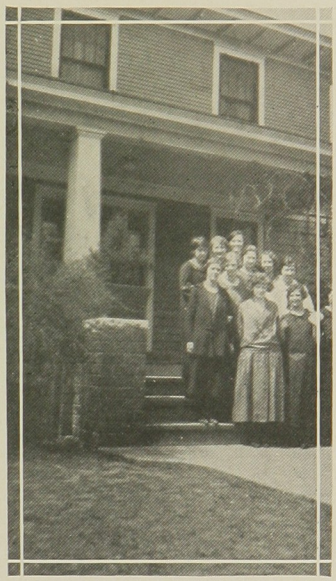

Hot Numbers—Where's the Fire?

The subject is indeed worthy of all the skill of even so great an artist as Howard Chandler Christy, for Mrs. Coolidge is the first president's wife who has been a member of a Greek letter organization.

How fitting then that Pi Beta Phi of which she is a member should present her with this lovely portrait. The local chapter is indeed fortunate to have had a part in so meritorious an enterprise.

Gamma Phi Delta

See all the pretty girls, children? They are pretty because they are good. They belong to the Y. W. C. A. and the Young People's League, and have never missed prayer meeting in their lives. They know which fork to use and how to eat soup, but they never, never dance or play cards or say d—n. If you are very good, perhaps when you grow up you, too, may be overlooked by all the Greeks, and then you may be a Gam-ma Phi Del-ta Pledge.

Look Us Over

Delta Taw

The Delt Sheiks

"Wake up, dear," said little Harry, interrupting Blackie's snores by a gentle shake.

"Lemme alone," said Blackie crossly.

"But, Blackie, dear, it's time for Sunday school," remonstrated Harry, "you'll be late and—"

"Thash right," conceded Ralph jumping out of bed with a shout of joy, "and then I won't get a gold star. Just two more Sundays and I'll get my bronze medal. Oh goodie, good—"

"Ah, thash nothin," said Chig, who was busy washing behind his ears, "I've got two bronze ones already, and next Sunday I'll get a silver one. I haven't missed for two years."

"Well, come on," said Sid, appearing in the door with his little Bible under his arm. "It's time to go."

So the dear little boys trouped out, their little faces shining, their knickers neatly pressed, and their little windsor ties flowing in the breeze.

But just as they were nearing their destination, the circus, which had appeared in the town the day before, passed by, and the boys, never giving it a second glance, went up the steps and into the church.

Acasiah

Spreading the Bull

"Is this the Acasiah house?" inquired the reporter timidly, entering the yard of the dingy dugout disguised as a radio set.

"The same," quoth the porter sadly.

"Well," continued the scribe, making a noise like static, "I want to interview you for the Beauty section."

"Yuh don't say," replied the delighted flunky, completely deceived by the disguise.

"Even so," replied the budding writer, murmuring WDKF between his teeth. "We wanta picture of your distinguished faculty members."

"Uh-huh," said the underling, bravely concealing his disappointment. "You mean Howart T. ——"

"No, no," said the clever typist, with an impatient shake of his aerial, "we want——"

"Oh, one of the deans. How would Wil——"

"No, silly, we want beauty, not brains——"

"Oh, then you must mean Barn——"

"Absolutely not. We wan——"

"Not Lund?"

"No."

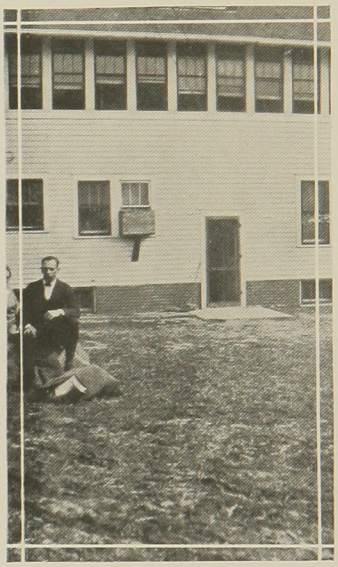

"Oh! I know. You want a picture of Kammever's wonderful jewelr——"

"No," shrieked the now desperate writer, rushing madly down Sixteenth Street, with a dismal wail, "nor Loomis, nor Williams, nor DeRose, nor yet Parker. We wanted Mack or Skin——" But as he turned to utter the fateful word, he tripped on his groundwire, and fell headlong into the gutter.

Edgerton

Behold the abode of Nels Peter, better known as the campus speed demon. The thrilling tale is still repeated on dark winter evenings, how Ole, alone and unprotected, driving the house mother's car, assayed to journey to the station to meet two Last Hopes who were arriving for the week end.

How after meeting and conquering three traffic policemen, he was coasting blithely down Seventeenth street when he encountered the Ford which was to prove his undoing. But why repeat the gruesome details which are even yet so well remembered? Nels has recovered, and after a summer of work was able to pay for the car, but the rushees were never pledged.

Canned Dates

Delta Zeta

A School of D.Z. Fish Waiting to Be Caught

The Dizzies may not be much on grades, but when it comes to Society, just watch them step. For evidence of this fact see the society column, found on page five of the college scandal sheet, which begins each time with the following item: Miss Ella Wilson, Paxico, and Miss Renna Rosenthal, Topeka, spent the week end at the Delta Zeta house.

Had they been fortunate enough to get another pledge who could make her grades, their future would have been much more secure, though they will probably never recover from the depths to which the loss of Renna plunged them.

Next year, however, a last dying struggle is to be made to raise the status of the organization. A fast working team is being put into the field in an endeavor to snag some of the Delt heroes, and the slogan which has been chosen for the coming fray is "Beauty and popularity, and to hell with the overhead."

Chi Omega

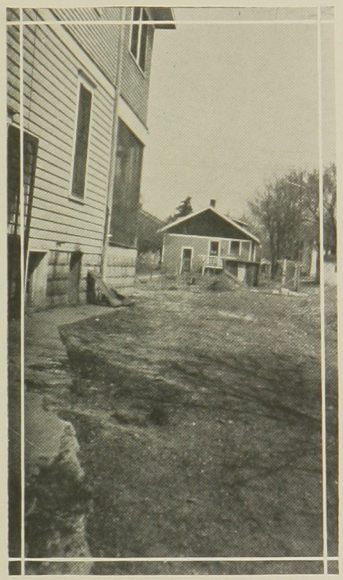

Eight Feet of Chi Omegas

The Chi O House was looking awfully vacant at the beginning of the year until the surviving members sent out a bushel basketful of bids and finally roped in a crowd of dear innocent little girls like Janice and Ruth.

When the sisters saw the ruddy glow of health on the face of Calcimine Russell they became alarmed at their own pallor and set about to remedy it by exercise. Doris and Bernice and Jessie and Margaret and Lucile and Donna all went together and bought a set of Victrola records on "Health in "Three Counts," but found it too thinning. Then they tried walking past the Sig Ma New house four times each evening, but as this didn't bring the blush of dawn to their cheeks, they were in despair.

Then George stepped in and solved the problem. Dear, faithful, trustworthy, house papa, George! He purchased a croquet set and installed it across the street in the park. Thoughtful George! Now each evening the Ki Omigaz spend their time hitting the wooden croquet balls, and chasing them into the far corners of the park. Thus it is that the roses of Piccardy have come back to their faces, and blonde little Mildred is no longer queen of the reds.

The Long Long Trail

You see here the home of the chief of the tribes,
The dwelling of bridge fiends and budding young scribes;
Set high o'er the world like our old friend the star,
Their press agent sees that we know what they are.

Wine, women and song play no part in the drab existence of these intellectual giants, whose every thought centers about how best to improve their minds, and their bridge game.

We regret that lack of space prevents us from chronicling their many attainments. They lead all the Greeks in wealth, scholarship, social standing, and in the beauty and luxury of their home.

Hank, Gene, Butch, Posy and Fat are all worthy sons of the Saturday Night Club.

Omega Taw Epsilon

THE FABLE OF THE MUCILAGE BOTTLE AND THE MUSTARD POT

It was Hell Week at the O. T. E. house many moons ago. Great was the wrath against those in high places among the Neophytes.

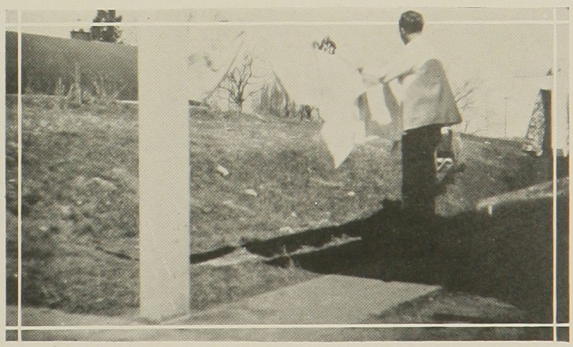

And it came to pass that the theft of the mustard pot was reported by the Cook, and the Mucilage bottle disappeared from its resting place, and the records show that these two were united in matrimony.

When the race for positions at the dinner table began, Rex and Jack were late, being thus caused to sit down without looking. And a feeling of extreme warmth assailed portions of their anatomy, and Rex, it is said, excused himself, and was enabled to escape, because the glue had not yet hardened. But Hathaway, being president, was forced to stick it out. And the glue waxed cold, and the guests departed, leaving the president still sticking.

Then like a crab departed he from the room backwards, resembling the tortoise in that he carried his chair with him.

And great was the weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth among the O. T. E. Neophytes that night.

Upon meeting her, hurry forward, embrace her affectionately, and imprint a kiss upon both cheeks. Then begin a line of chatter such as, "My dear, I met your cousin last summer, and I think she is stunning, positively stunning. And the cutest clothes! Oh there goes the Man Loise is engaged to. Isn't he slick?" etc., etc.

If she has any brains, she will grow sick and faint after half an hour of this, but if she has any brains you don't want her anyway. Then recount the attainments of other chapters (the one at Georgia U. isn't really so bad). Next mention casually that the D. Z's get their pledges with a seine. You have now pledged her, or if you haven't you never will and you may as well leave her to the tender mercies of the Tri Delta.

Kappa Sigs

Living Room of the Kappa Sig House

"For single men in barracks don't grow into plaster saints."

A tale is told of the Knights of Kappa Sig, that in the days of their Glory, they gave a Feast, and invited many to their Banquet Hall, where they made merry on meats and rich viands and nectared sweets. There was in truth a Feast of Reason and a Flow of Something Stronger than Soul. And Sir Gat, who loved forsooth his Brother Knights, entreated them to Lay Off the Cup that Cheers, and Sir Peter the Piper cautioned them to Leave It Alone. Ivan the Turrible pleaded with Sir Aching to Refrain, but he was repulsed rudely, and so there was much revelry in the Hall of Kappa Sig.

And the King heard about the revelry, and he was Wroth—he was more than Wroth, he was Peeved, and ordered his Henchmen to take away the Coat of Arms of the Knights of Kappa Sig, that they be no longer known as Men of Renown, but as of the Common Herd. Thus it is that henceforth the Fallen Knights of Kappa Sig must explain in sorrow to their Ladies of the Court why they can have no more Royal Sprees, and it grieves them sore.

My Dearest, Darling Mother:

I've been intending all week to write to my own darling, but you know how it is, muvs; I just have to study all the time. We have to keep our grades up, you know, or else stay in study hall, and you've no idea how hard it is. Georgia Mae says it's up to the freshmen to do it, 'cause when you get to be a senior, you never can make any grades.

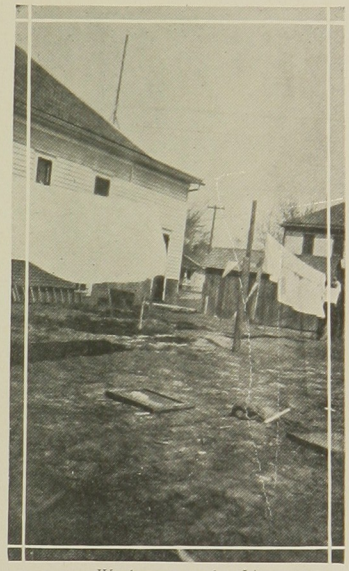

Poor Little Pledge o' Mine

Mother, I've told you before, but I'm sure you don't realize what a perfectly wonderful bunch of girls we have. Why, they're just perfect. Now, take Dahy. She's president of almost every organization on the hill, and you never saw a girl who has so much executive ability. Why she nearly works us to death. And we've got most of the good dancers in school, and every one of our juniors and seniors belongs to some honorary organization, and one of our girls won the beauty contest this year.

Oh! mother, I had a date last night. I was so thrilled. He sure is slick.

Now do write soon dear, you don't know how lonesome I get poked off here with nothing to do but study. Your own Lois.

"The farmer's in the dell,
The farmer's in the dell,
High Ho the cherio,
The farmer's in the dell."

Ladies and gentlemen. We present for the prize cucumber of college farm, this organization of the sturdy A. H. men. Little would one suspect to look at this stellar galaxy that its members were interested chiefly in modern art and poetry. But they are admittedly artistic in their tendencies. In addition to a famous actor and several writers and painters, they boast one full fledged bootleg guzzler.

A. T. Oh

More Trouble for Pat

Alpha Tau Omega was founded in a dark corner of an old cotton gin shortly after the close of the Civil War, by one H. I. Kleagle, who united a group of the students of the Sunday school into a fraternal organization. The letters stand for the Greek words meaning, "Somebody else will if you don't."

The first 20 chapters were all located in southern schools, and the organization was then closely associated with the order of the triple K. Later, however, an estrangement arose between the two groups, and the insignia of A. T. O. was changed from the fiery cross to the cross formee.

The proudest boast of Delta Theta chapter is, "we are the finest chapter of Alpha Tau Omega."

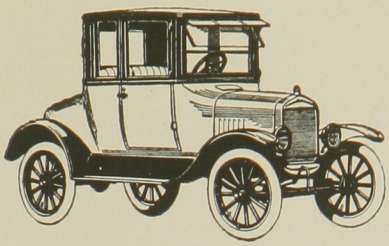

The Royal Purple Advertisers

The advertisers in this volume consist of merchants, business organizations, tradesmen who seek and receive the patronage of college men and women.

These advertisers are not believers in a one-sided bargain; to merit student patronage, they are the supporters of student institutions. For this reason the Royal Purple advertisers deserve student support.

There is much to be read further.

Aggie satire is continued among these ads.

He—Do you know why they named the baby Montgomery Ward?
His—No, Why?
He— Because it's of the male order.

From the Kansas State Collegian—

Dear Santa Claus: Will you please bring me a book of maps to color, and a little story book by Wells. That is all I want, Santa Claus.

Your little friend,
Ivor Victor

From the Branding Iron (1923):

J. William Skinner and Ferdinand Voiland announce yawningly that a Rural Commerce honorary has been organized. "We wish to deny the base rumor," says Skinner, "that the Delta Phi Upsilon is a botanical society. "His denial is predicted upon the current belief that the membership list of D. P. U. reads like a compilation of the varieties of lilies of the field indigenous to Manhattan, and that their closed motto was, " We toil not, neither do we spin."

Variety

Tastes differ; if it weren't for this fact a clothing merchant's job would be as easy—and about as interesting—as selling postage stamps.

As it is, we always have the greatest possible variety here; if a man wants something in a colorful necktie, we have it; and we are also ready to satisfy the conservative, the man who wants a neat effect in black and white. And everybody in between!

We are proud of the variety of good merchandise in this store. It's one of the main things that hold our customers to us.

When you come in to buy a suit, you will see a large assortment of the finest that America has to offer—Society Brand. You'll find the fabric and the model you want.

We wonder:

If Doctor Hill and Professor Holcombe really had any idea of what Tony Sarg's Marionettes were like?

If the girls do enjoy classes under H. W. Davis?

If Prof. Nelson Anthrim Crawford has a past'?

If Hank Webber hates himself, just a little bit?

JOHN DEERE IMPLEMENTS

Are The

STANDARD OF THE WORLD

FOR SALE

One Ford Car—with piston rings
Two rear wheels, one front spring;
Has no fenders, seat or plank
Burns lots o' gas, hard to crank.
Carburetor busted half way through
Engine missing, hits on two.
Three years old, four in the spring;
Has shock absorbers and everything.

Radiator busted, sure does leak;
Differential's dry, you can hear it squeak.
Ten spokes missing, front all bent,
Tire blowed out, aint worth a cent.
Got lots o' speed, will run like the deuce
Burns either gas or tobacco juice.
Tire all off, been run on the rim
But a darned good Ford, for the shape she's in.
For particulars see,
M. R. Getty, Royal Purple office.

Our Last Word

As the Staff of the 1924 Royal Purple we wish to thank every member of the faculty and student body who assisted in any way in the production of this book. We want to thank the various organizations for their loyal support and co-operation.

To each advertiser who showed their good will towards K. S. A. C. by backing this volume, we voice our appreciation.
